Toning up for the Canadian Association for Health and Physical Education and Recreation program being conducted in the Kelowna area these grade 11 students work out on the parallel bars under the guidance of instructor Eileen Morrissey. The program involves six basic athletic endeavors which can earn students gold, silver and bronze crests from the fitness and amateur sports directorate, department of national health and welfare. Included in the program are a one-minute speed sit-up, standing broad jump, shuttle run, flexed arm hang, 50-yard run and 300-yard run. All students participating receive a personal booklet for their personal yearly records. — (Courier photo).

DEADLINE PASSES

Kidnap Victim Still Missing

MONTREAL (CP) — Deadlines for the safe release of a kidnapped British diplomat, set either officially by the abductors or reported as such, all passed today without any announced direct contact with authorities.

The kidnappers were said to have given authorities 48 hours to act on their ransom demands, after forcing James Richard Cross, British trade commissioner in Montreal, from his home early Monday.

The end of that ultimatum period at various times was understood to be 8:30 a.m., 9 a.m. and noon today—all of which passed without any break in the case.

The noon deadline passed about half an hour after Quebec Justice Minister Jacques Choquette said the provincial and federal governments are ready to explore "all practical avenues out of this impasse."

Mr. Choquette did not say whether ransom conditions would be met but instead appealed to the kidnappers "to allow their respect for human life to overcome their political aspirations, misdirected as they may be."

He told a news conference in his heavily-guarded Montreal office he has been available for calls since early Tuesday and can be reached at his Quebec City office this afternoon until he returns to Montreal at 7 p.m.

He read a letter, signed by the Front de Liberation du Quebec and called Communiqué Numero 2. He said it was received by Mrs. Cross Tuesday and specified a 24-hour delay from noon Tuesday.

LIFE THREATENED
The note in French said that when the 24-hour delay has run out "we will in no way hesitate to do away with J. Cross... because the life and liberty of political prisoners and the men of Lapalme are worth more than hundreds of diplomats dedicated to the sole interests of the financial interests of big Anglo-Saxons and Americans."

Mr. Choquette said Mr. Cross is "an innocent individual who bears no responsibility whatsoever for our internal problems and who is held as hostage."

"It is the gravest form of blackmail that exists," he condemned the ransom demands—the release of more than 20 imprisoned Quebec terrorists and $500,000 in bullion.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Trudeau said earlier today the federal government's decision to reject the demands was difficult because the life of a man had to be weighed in the balance.

"But the commitment to society is greater than anything else," the minority cannot be allowed to impose its view on the majority by violence, he said.

B.C. Ferry's Officers Blamed In Crash With Russian Ship

VANCOUVER (CP)—The captain and chief officer of the British Columbia ferry Queen of Victoria were accused Tuesday of misstatements and inconsistent testimony aimed at covering up a series of "half-hearted half-measures" taken to avert a collision with a Russian freighter.

David Brander Smith, counsel for the master of the Soviet vessel Sergey Yessenin, blamed Capt. R. J. Pollock of the Queen of Victoria with failing to avert the collision which claimed three lives Aug. 2 in Active Pass.

He accused both Pollock and his chief officer, Zale Kironn, of trying to improve their own position in testimony given to a federal commission of inquiry, and urged the commission to reject some of the details of their testimony.

He contended that rough notes of information to be entered in the ferry's log were at variance with the actual log entries, particularly those involving the ship's position at the time of the collision.

In the notes the ship's position at 12:02 p.m. was given as off Helen Point, but the corresponding log entry read "almost at Helen Point."

starboard side of mid-channel." Photographs of the collision showed the ferry on the south side of the passage, contrary to testimony from Pollock and Kironn that it was in mid-channel," Mr. Smith said.

He contended that half-measures and inaction prevented the ferry from getting back to her own side of the narrow channel before the collision.

He said Capt. Pollock should not have tried to regain the proper side of the channel by changing course, or, alternatively, should have put on full speed to move across the pass.

As it was, "the engines were put to slow ahead and the course altered only slightly (10 degrees) setting the ferry on an inevitable collision course. There was a lack of concern and a lack of awareness of danger on the bridge of the Queen of Victoria," he charged.

"Only when the ships were closing together were the engines of the ferry put to full astern, and Pollock admitted in evidence they were run in reverse for only a short time."

Chain Stores Rebuked

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal prices and incomes commission today denounced pay settlements in three major grocery-store chains as excessive, unjustified and inflationary.

The commission criticized the employers.

Customers will have to pay the shot in higher food prices following pay increases averaging about 11 1/2 per cent a year—almost twice the commission's suggested six-per-cent maximum—for employees of Steinberg's Ltd., Dominion Stores Ltd. and Loblaw's Groceries Co., the commission said.

"The commission has been unable to find any justification for the amount of these increases in terms of the exception announced with the guidelines."

"Full-time workers in the industry are not relatively low-paid. Firms have had no difficulty in attracting or maintaining an adequate work force, nor have rates of pay fallen behind those of comparable groups."

"The present settlements were reached without a hint of strike or lock-out, despite the employers' expressed dismay about the size of the increases."

The commission said an explanation lies partly in the fact that the grocery chains are free of competition because if all the main chains raise prices there will be little impact on sales.

"Thus it is not difficult for firms to pass on to consumers the cost of excessive wage and salary increases."

Those characteristics of the food-retailing industry make it similar to the Canadian construction industry, "a no other area where wage settlements have been excessive," the commission said.

There are similarities, too, in the way pay settlements are negotiated in construction and food retailing, the agency added.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Strikes and lockouts will continue in British Columbia until both labor and management show greater maturity in their relationships, C. J. Cunningham, president of the Construction Labor Relations Association, said Tuesday.

Nixon Reports Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will make what he terms a major statement on Southeast Asia tonight in a speech doctored with a new U.S. proposal to be offered at the Vietnam peace talks Thursday.

Nixon set elaborate plans to brief key congressmen, the cabinet and diplomats ahead of his scheduled 15-minute address to be carried live on radio and television at 9 p.m. EDT.

But the White House remained mum on what new offer negotiator David K. E. Bruce will lay on the bargaining table at Thursday's weekly meeting in Paris with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong envoys.

There was speculation Nixon might propose a ceasefire, or a Geneva-type multi-nation conference on Southeast Asia, or special talks on prisoners-of-war or a combination of various items aimed at breaking the lengthening deadlock at Paris.

SPEED WITHDRAWALS
There was talk, too, that Nixon might unveil a speedup in U.S. troop withdrawals beyond the timetable he set last April. At that time he announced another 150,000 men would be brought home from Vietnam by next May, including 50,000 by Oct. 15.

However, Rines's team failed to lure the monster to the placid lake surface with a tempting bait of sea creatures taken from sea-crawlers.

The lure was dumped in the loch but produced not a ripple. A pity—since the scientific team was ready with yet

Welfare Costs Soaring In City

Welfare costs to Kelowna this year will be at least $45,000 more than budgeted and Mayor Hilbert Roth and council have added their voice to a province-wide protest being registered by municipalities.

A press release from council expressed concern about a 40 per cent increase in the levy on municipalities in the shared-financing program, which has cost the city more than $300,000 in the past two years.

The increase brought the per capita rate for Kelowna from $1.06 to $1.58, effective Sept. 1. Estimated costs to the city this year will be $259,000, compared with a budgeted $214,000.

"Unless there is a change in the basic formula for sharing welfare costs the City of Kelowna will face a levy in 1971 of at least $322,000, even if there are no further rate increases," the council press release said.

Kelowna council has requested a general meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to discuss the problem. The UBCM has reportedly struck a committee to investigate rising welfare costs.

Welfare costs for the province are pooled and shared by the three levels of government on the basis of 50 per cent federal, 30 per cent provincial and 20 per cent municipal. The municipal share is recovered by the province with a monthly per capita levy using the 1968 census population figure, which registers Kelowna with 17,006 people. The current population is about 20,000.

Kelowna's monthly per capita levy for welfare ranged in 1968 from 70 cents to 89 cents, in 1969 from 83 cents to 96 cents and in 1970 from 96 cents to $1.58.

Comparison figures by years are $143,000 in 1968, $178,000 in 1969 and $259,000 estimated for this year.

Police said today the accident occurred west of the intersection of Eibel Street and Weddell Place in a poorly-lit section of the thoroughfare. The boy was riding a bicycle with small wheels and high handlebars. The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Kelowna General Hospital. About $300 damage was done in the crash.

The boy's death is the fifth fatality in the city and district this year. Two-year-old Scott Horak of Okanagan Mission, was killed July 1 when struck by a vehicle near his home on DeHart Road. On July 15, 34-year-old Gordon Arthur Robinson of Westbank, died when crushed beneath a front-end loader four miles from Winfield.

Eighteen-year-old Douglas James Langham of Kelowna, was killed when the vehicle he was in went over a 275-foot embankment on Westside Road, Aug. 2 and 70-year-old Jennie Harriet Heatherington, formerly of The Pas, Man., died when she was struck by a vehicle while trying to cross Highway 97, two miles north of the city Sept. 1.

Last year to this date, there were 11 fatalities in the city and district, with a total of 14 during the whole year, four in the city and 10 in the district. Last year also marked the first time traffic accidents in city and district surpassed the 1,000 mark, with 1,016 accidents reported in the Kelowna RCMP area, which extends from near the south end of Wood Lake to part way down Trepanier hill. A breakdown shows 522 accidents in the city and 494 in the district during 1969.

Highest fatality rate was recorded in 1968 with 16 highway deaths, compared with eight fatalities in 1967. From 1962 to 1968, the fatality ratio varied from five to seven.

Weddell Place Accident To Be Subject Of Inquiry

A coroner's jury has been called in the death of 10-year-old Kirby nor of Kelowna, killed Tuesday when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a vehicle on Weddell Place at 7:40 p.m. Driver of the vehicle was listed as Richard Lawrence McGowan of Merritt.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knorr of 761 Bay Ave.

Violations Seen In Flight Which Ended In Death For 30

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government says an old Martin 404 airliner on its first passenger flight after coming out of mothballs may have been 4,000 pounds overweight when it crashed in the Rocky Mountains, killing 30 persons on a Wichita State University Football trip.

A second rented plane used to fly the football team was grounded Tuesday after the Federal Aviation Administration said it found 16 maintenance defects.

The twin-engined aircraft that crashed on a mountainside en route to a Utah State game last Friday was making its maiden trip with the football team after having been parked in storage in Las Vegas, Nev., for three years, its owner said.

The same plane veered off a runway and bent a propeller when a landing gear collapsed as it tried to take off from Okla. homa City to pick up the Wichita State team for a flight to West Texas State the previous weekend, the FAA said.

FAA spokesman James Greenwood said preliminary figures showed the plane weighed an estimated 48,900 pounds upon its takeoff to climb the towering Rockies after a refueling stop in Denver Friday. The maximum takeoff weight listed in specifications for the Martin 404 plane is 44,900 pounds.

A spokesman for the national transportation safety board said the plane may have flown into a blind canyon, been unable to escape, and crashed into a ridge at the foot of the Continental Divide.

Leftists Claim Victory In Peru

LA PAZ (AP) — Leftist forces claimed victory today over rightists in the struggle for the Bolivian presidency and their leader, Gen. Juan Jose Torres, marched into La Paz in triumph.

With popular support growing for Torres, Gen. Rogelio Miranda, the conservative army chief of staff who forced Alfredo Ovando Candia to resign as president Tuesday, was reported to have taken asylum in a foreign embassy.

Two members of his junta also were said to have taken similar refuge.

Torres pledged a new military-civilian government in a speech to the people and said it would be a popular one of the nationalist tendencies. He is expected to assume the presidency.

He said the government would have four basic pillars—the farmers, workers, students and the armed forces.

He said his was "the revolution of the people and manifests its unwavering will to continue toward the goal of national liberation."

ROUTED RIGHTISTS
Groups of leftist university students forcibly occupied the homes of military men and civilians considered to be rightists.

Union workers took over the conservative newspaper El Diario, the oldest and most respected in Bolivia.

Dispatches from the interior said leftist workers in the tin mines had expelled Bolivian and foreign technicians of the Mining Corp. of Bolivia, known as Comibol.

Mid-East Hopes Battered Twice

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Hope for a negotiated settlement of the Middle East conflict has slumped to the lowest point since the end of last year.

The already sagging hopes suffered two more blows Tuesday.

The United States backed out of the deputy-ambassador level of Big Four peace talks in New York, saying it is pointless to go on until Egypt rectifies violations of the Suez canal ceasefire by removing newly-installed Soviet anti-aircraft missiles.

MONSTER HUNT

DRUMNADROCHIT, Scotland (Reuters) — Nessie, the legendary Loch Ness monster, may have made a ghostly appearance as a blob on a sonar scanner, a team of American scientists says.

Headed by Robert Rines, president of the Academy of Applied Science in Belmont, Mass., the team says its sonar equipment recently tracked something "many times larger than the biggest fish in the lake."

Norman Collins, chairman of the Loch Ness Phenomenon Investigation Bureau which co-ordinates the annual Nessie investigations in this north-east Scotland township, calls the sonar readings "encouragingly encouraging."

However, Rines's team failed to lure the monster to the placid lake surface with a tempting bait of sea creatures taken from sea-crawlers.

However, Rines's team failed to lure the monster to the placid lake surface with a tempting bait of sea creatures taken from sea-crawlers.

The lure was dumped in the loch but produced not a ripple. A pity—since the scientific team was ready with yet another device to get Nessie hopping out of the water.

They planned to use sonar equipment to transmit underwater sounds of other sea animals "mating, fighting and communicating."

A second American team, headed by Amazon explorer Jack Ulrich, hopes to film the monster in the murky depths with an infra-red camera capable of taking pictures in total darkness.

Ulrich is so convinced of its existence that he has taken out a $12,000 insurance policy against being attacked and injured by the monster, and has placed a bet with a British bookmaker that his team will "capture" it on film.

While the new techniques may not have proved that Nessie exists, they have lured at least four public relations men to the side of Loch Ness.

The sex-essence venture is being sponsored by a perfume company and the infra-red camera team by a whisky firm.

Judge's Home Guarded In U.K. Trial

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard today guarded the London home of the judge in the "murder trial" without a body" after an anonymous telephone caller threatened to kill his wife. The threat was telephoned to the Old Bailey court Tuesday as the judge, Sir Sebag Shaw, was sentencing two West Indian brothers, Arthur and Nizamodeen Hosain, to life imprisonment for the kidnap-murder of Muriel McKay.

Bomb Blasts Palestinians' N.Y. Office

NEW YORK (Reuters) — A bomb blew out the door and windows of the office of the Palestine Liberation Organization on the third floor of a Park Avenue skyscraper. Police were looking for the bomber, believed to be a bushy-haired youth wearing khaki jacket and trousers.

Public Hearing Urged For Skagit

Energy Minister J. J. Greene told the Commons Tuesday that a public hearing should be held on a proposal to flood the Skagit River Valley in British Columbia. He was replying to Ram Harding, NDP-Kootenay West who asked what type of investigation the federal government would undertake before making a decision on the valley flooding. The New Democrat MP had earlier asked whether Seattle City Light had applied for a permit to raise the height of the Ross Dam and flood an estimated 6,000 acres in the valley. Mr. Greene said Seattle City Light is operating under a permit granted by the International Joint Commission in 1942.

ROBERT THOMPSON
... ombudsman plea

The growing power of the public service bureaucracy makes imperative creation of an ombudsman post in government, Robert Thompson PC-Red Deer told the Commons Tuesday. Mr. Thompson made his plea as he opened second reading debate on his own public bill that would provide for creation of a "parliamentary commissioner for administration" to assist citizens who feel they are being taxed unfairly.

Otto Lang, minister in charge of the wheat board, told the Commons Tuesday that major wheat sales have been priced at between $1.71 and $1.77 a bushel, a lower level than that established by the International Grains Arrangement.

Joseph Andriano, 24, of Buffalo, N.Y., was remanded in custody to Oct. 13 Tuesday in Langley on charges of trafficking in drugs. Police allege he tried to sell LSD and methedrine to an RCMP undercover agent.

President Nixon will hold talks later this month with President Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania, United States officials said Tuesday. It will be Nixon's second meeting in less than a month with the leader of an independent-minded East European Communist country. He has talks with President Tito of Yugoslavia during his five-country trip from which he returned Monday night. U.S. officials said Ceausescu will probably come to Washington Oct. 26.

Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam said Tuesday in London his country would be able to continue the war against the Communists on its own even if there were heavy United States troop withdrawals. But in an interview, shortly before he cut short the private visit to return to Saigon at the request of President Nguyen Van Thieu, he said he did not think this was the time for President Nixon to announce a date for the complete withdrawal of American troops.

Cartoonist Al Capp, who comments on the United States social scene through his L'il Abner comic characters, carried his campaign against "fakery and fascism of the far left as well as the far right" into Canada Tuesday. "I never was a liberal, I'm not a conservative, I'm a professional humorist," Mr. Capp told the Advertising and Sales Club of Toronto.

Charles Brown, the Peanut comic strip character who can't win an argument with his own dog, is 20 years old this week. "Is that right?" said his creator, Charles Schultz, when telephoned in San Francisco for an opinion on the weighty matter. "Well," he added, "back to the old drawing board."

Ontario Millionaire Denies Varied Charges Against Him

TORONTO (CP) — George Clinton Duke made a blanket denial Tuesday of most of the previous evidence at a judicial inquiry, contradicting testimony that he had traffic tickets fixed, that he held a gun at a woman's head, that he fired machine-gun bullets over Lake Ontario and that he beat his wife.

"Preposterous" and "stupid" was how he described allegations that he had gone out of his way to cultivate senior provincial police officers or that he had any improper relationship with John Pappalardo, Donald (Red) LeBarre or Daniel Gaborini, alleged to be men of known criminal activity.

The allegations against him were based on "some rumors, backyard-fence gossip and agitation," the Oakville, Ont., businessman told the inquiry.

"What have I done to earn it? Drunk some whisky? Driven a little fast?"

In his denials he clashed with inquiry counsel J. J. Robinette, who at one point asked him "what kind of a fool" he was.

OPP OFFICERS CLASH
Before the millionaire took the stand, the courtroom heard a sharp exchange between two OPP officers over their previous conflicting testimony regarding the circumstances around withdrawal of a careless driving charge against him.

Staff Supt. A. M. Rodger again denied testimony of Inspector J. H. Jones that the superintendent had instructed him to have the charge withdrawn because of insufficient evidence.

Inspector Jones glared across the room at the senior commanding officer and repeatedly accused him of ordering the charge withdrawn.

Mr. Duke, tall and white-haired, hit out at the need for the inquiry, which resulted after Dr. Morton Shulman, New Democratic Party member of the legislature for Toronto High Park, alleged he was associating with senior OPP officers and men of known criminal activity.

"I believe this inquiry has cost the government a great deal of money," he said. "It has cost me my reputation. It has cost my corporation hundreds of thousands of dollars in business."

He was the 94th witness before the hearing, conducted by Mr. Justice Campbell Grant of the Ontario Supreme Court.

He denied that: —He had ever approached senior OPP personnel to intercede on his behalf on impaired-driving charges or speeding tickets;

—He had ever worn an OPP tie clip, allegedly given to him by OPP Commissioner Eric Silk or that he had flashed it to impress policemen who halted him for traffic offences;

—He had ever held a gun to Hamilton fashion designer Elizabeth Clifton's head as she alleged, although he was convicted of threatening her;

PWA CHANGES

The board of directors of Pacific Western Airlines has announced the resignation of R. H. Laidman, above, as president of the company. At the same time, the board announced that Donald Watson, below, formerly a vice-president of the company, is the new president. Mr. Laidman has resigned for personal reasons. Mr. Watson was this year's Kelowna Regatta commodore.

A major tax reform program, providing relief to pensioners, farmers and municipalities, was unveiled Tuesday as the Ontario legislature resumed in Toronto after summer recess. Opposition members immediately charged that the program was a vote-catching device for a provincial election expected next year, with most of the up-coming from members of the New Democratic Party, appearing in the house for the first time under their new leader, Stephen Lewis.

The Commons Tuesday approved the shift of Hudson's Bay Co. from England to Canada by giving third reading to a Senate bill granting the company federal incorporation. The company, with 300 years' history in Canada, has been a British-centred corporation since it was given its charter by Charles II. This year it is moving its headquarters to Winnipeg. Robert Simpson PC-PC-Churchill said Manitoba is "particularly pleased" to welcome the company, despite earlier criticisms by the New Democratic Party that Hudson's Bay was "exploitive" of the native population.

Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny told visiting French President Georges Pompidou in Moscow Tuesday night that the Soviet Union is ready for bilateral consultations with France on solutions to Middle East and Far East problems.

Relations between the Royal Family and the Duke of Windsor, which have long suffered from the abdication crisis of 1936, apparently are continuing to improve. The latest development in this direction takes the form of a Saturday night visit paid to the duke in Paris by Prince Charles.

Nobody wants to get on compensation. But one mistake will do it.

One mistake. It may be due to unsafe working conditions. It may be the fault of another workman. Or it may be your own fault. But all of a sudden — you're hurt. 100,000 work injuries were reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board last year. We took care of injured workmen with hospital bills, medical expenses, reimbursement for lost earnings, rehabilitation services, vocational retraining and pensions. No matter who is responsible for the injury, the Workmen's Compensation Board pays. The money doesn't come from you or public taxes. It comes from B.C. employers, and last year over $36 million was paid through the WCB to injured workmen and their families. It's not hard to get on compensation. But there are easier ways to make a buck.

OC Announces
Walrod Awards

The 1970-71 R. P. Walrod memorial scholarship awards have been announced by Dr. Rowland F. Grant, principal of Okanagan College.

Recipients are Donna Lynn Correnti of Revelstoke, Gayle Lee McGee of Vernon and Walter Steinruck of Westbank. Established in memory of R. P. (Tiny) Walrod, well known Valley resident, the scholarships of $125 each are awarded to high ranking secondary school students of the college region who enrol in a full program at Okanagan College.

Miss Correnti is a 1970 graduate of Revelstoke Secondary School and is taking a first year science program at the college centre in Vernon. She plans to be a dietitian. While attending secondary school Miss Correnti worked part-time as a laboratory assistant. She was active in the first Revelstoke Land Rangers (secretary) and in curling.

Miss McGee is a 1970 graduate of Vernon Senior Secondary School and is taking a first years arts program at the college centre in Vernon. Teaching or social work is her career objective. Miss McGee was editor of the school newspaper, and active in the future teachers' club, the rangers and the United Nations club. She also teaches at the Sunday school of Trinity United Church.

Mr. Steinruck is a 1970 graduate of Kelowna Secondary School and is enrolled in a first year science program at the college centre in Kelowna. He intends to transfer to UBC where he will continue a pre-medical program and then enter medical school. Mr. Steinruck was captain of the school debate team and active in the mathematics club and chess club. He has a strong interest in music and has played in orchestra and band, both in the school and the community.

Festival Group
Meeting Here

The 1970 convention of the Pacific Northwest Festivals Association will take place in Kelowna Oct. 23 and 24.

The two day symposium will draw delegates and representatives from fairs, festivals and celebrations from B.C., Washington and Oregon to discuss mutual problems, including parades, publicity, fund raising and community involvement.

Special guest for the two day affair will be Max Colwell, manager of Pasadena's famed Tournament of Roses.

Headquarters for the symposium will be the Caravel Motor Inn, with business sessions slated for the Fintry Queen and social events at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club. Approximately 100 delegates and wives will converge upon the four seasons playground for the two day annual get-together.

of festival presidents, managers and directors.

Officially formed as an organization in Seattle last year, R. A. (Dick) Gunoff, former director-general of the Kelowna International Regatta Association of Kelowna is vice-president of the organization, for the eastern region.

A highlight of the convention will be Festival Workshop '70, described by organizers as "perhaps the most important get-together of Pacific Northwest festivals and community events ever held."

Subjects to be discussed include: how not to lose money; organization of booster groups; parade organization; better promotion and dressing up your town for visitors.

The convention runs from noon Oct. 23 to noon Oct. 24.

Memorial Arena's Times
Listed By City Commission

The 1970-71 winter arena schedule of the Kelowna Parks and Recreation Commission offers a lot of "ice time" to both adult and tiny tot skaters, as well as the usual hockey activities.

Public skating is available for tiny tots each Wednesday from 1 to 3 p.m., and for adults and teenagers from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday figure skating sessions have been timed from 6 to 8 a.m., and from 5 to 7:30 p.m., with ice period reserved for Sunnyside school from 10 to 11:45 a.m. Wednesday minor hockey has been scheduled 8 to 10:15 p.m.

School skating is offered Thursday from 10 to 11:45 a.m., followed by minor hockey from 6 to 8 a.m. and 1:00 to 2:30 p.m., and 8 p.m. to 12 midnight. Thursday's schedule also includes school skating from 10 to 11:45 a.m.; figure skating from 3 to 6 p.m.; and junior hockey practice from 6:05 to 7:30 p.m.

There is figure skating Friday from 6 to 8 a.m., with public skating scheduled from 3 to 4:30 p.m. Minor hockey will be held from 5 to 7:30 p.m., and public skating from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Church hockey is slated from 11 p.m. to 12 midnight. Unused times during the day are allotted for maintenance.

On Saturdays, minor hockey is scheduled from 5:30 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. (except on junior hockey nights to 7 p.m. only) and from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. Junior hockey ice is available from 7 to 11 p.m. Public skating is offered from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Public skating from 8 to 9:30 p.m. is available on remaining Saturday nights.

Minor hockey again heads the list Sunday from 5:30 to 7:45 a.m., and from 3:30 to 7:45 p.m. Commercial hockey and church skating is offered from 2 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. and from 10 a.m. to noon, followed by figure skating from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday public skating is scheduled from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and from 6:15 to 9:45 p.m.

Minor hockey is scheduled Monday from 6 to 8 a.m., followed by school skating from 10 to 11:45 a.m. Figure skating takes over from 3 to 9 p.m., with junior hockey practice from 9 to 10 p.m. and commercial hockey from 10:15 to 11:15 p.m.

There will be minor hockey Tuesdays from 6 to 9:45 a.m., followed by school skating from 10 to 11:45 a.m. Figure skating has been scheduled from 3 to 9 p.m. and minor hockey from 7:45 p.m. to 1 a.m.

'New' Toronto Dominion
Welcomed By Mayor Roth

Mayor Hilbert Roth officially opened the new location of the Toronto Dominion Bank Monday, with a snip of the ribbon cutting scissors and a vote of confidence from the city and the "people of Kelowna."

Introduced to the small gathering by G. T. Corlett, general manager of the bank's Pacific division, Mayor Roth described the choice of the new premises at 410 Bernard Ave., as an "excellent one" and a modern building a "credit to the bank," which he termed as having been successful since it first located in the city in 1963 "because of your service and public acceptance." The bank was formerly located at 510 Bernard Ave.

"I'm very proud to be the manager of the new premises," Lawrence Goulay told the assembly, adding he was "very pleased to live in Kelowna," which he described as the "jewel of the Okanagan."

Mr. Goulay has been in the city since last June to plan and execute the move to the new location.

As a prelude to the introduction of Mayor Roth, Mr. Corlett lauded Mr. Goulay as having "shown us in the few months he has been in Kelowna that our confidence in the future growth of Kelowna is fully justified."

Mr. Corlett also praised former bank manager Edward Cotton, whom he said "worked diligently hard and long over a period of approximately seven years to make this transition a reality."

"To all these people, and the people of Kelowna, the most essential ingredient of this whole mixture, I extend my most sincere thanks and appreciation."

Banking guests attending the opening and introduced by Mr. Corlett included Percy Hayes, supervisor, marketing; Fraser McCormick, supervisor, credit; Peter Bellinger, marketing, Vancouver; Louise Nagle, charge representative from Vancouver; and David McDew, who will manage the new Winfield branch when it opens Oct. 19.

Cloudy
Thursday

Cloudy skies with afternoon and evening rain should cover the Central Okanagan today and Thursday, as a Pacific disturbance brings cool weather into the province.

Clearing should begin Thursday behind the system. Skies should be cloudy today and this evening.

Tuesday's high was 52, the overnight low 21 and no precipitation was recorded. Low tonight and high Thursday should be 30 and 55.

Provincial Court Cases
From Saturday, Monday

Operating a vehicle while having an alcohol blood count exceeding .08 per cent resulted in a fine of $250 against Kenneth Frank Irwin of Kelowna, who pleaded guilty to the charge in provincial court Monday before Judge G. S. Demore. The accused was prohibited from driving a vehicle in Canada for one month. Court was told the accused had a breathalyzer reading of 10 per cent.

On a similar charge, Victor Gudmundson of Kelowna, was fined $250 on a plea of guilty, and prohibited from driving a vehicle in Canada for two months. Court was told the accused had a breathalyzer reading of 21 per cent.

A charge of breaking and entering against Laverne Douglas Hayne of Kelowna, was remanded to Oct. 9. No plea was entered.

Talking
Continues

Salary negotiations between teachers and School District 23 (Kelowna) representatives have begun, with neither side commenting.

Both parties have until Oct. 15 to reach settlement in the dispute, before conciliation talks become effective.

If no agreement has been reached after completion of conciliation talks, the next step would be compulsory arbitration.

Officials for both parties said a joint statement would be released when the matter is settled.

Oct. 24
Elk Date

The Kelowna Elks' Club elected its new officers Monday night at a regular meeting. Ted Thorburn was elected exalted ruler, Gerry Dore as leading knight, George Hornbrook as loyal knight, Dave Carleton as lecturing knight, Murray Billis as secretary, treasurer; Preston Mills as inner guard, and Lyle Henry Linder, Mel Greer as publicity director; William Wilson as two-year trustee; Robert Bishop as one-year trustee; Victor Schmidt as esquire; Peter Tomyk as chaplain and Nick Marchinko as historian.

Officers will be installed Oct. 24 in the Elks Hall.

Three Trips
For Ambulance

Two accidents and one routine ambulance call were answered by the Kelowna Fire Brigade Tuesday.

The emergency crew was summoned to Weddell Place at 7:40 p.m., where a 10-year-old boy was apparently struck by a vehicle while riding his bicycle. The ambulance crew was summoned again at 8:15 p.m. to an incident on Highway 33 in which no injuries were reported. Firemen were called today at 8:33 a.m. to Crown Zellerbach building material Interdivision Ltd., 820 Guy St., to check a malfunctioning refrigerated boxcar. No damage was reported. Only one routine call was handled by the ambulance unit Monday.

Nakano, McLeod
Rites This Week

MRS. NOBUE NAKANO

Measles Clinics
Acceptance Good

More than 5,000 school-aged children in the South Okanagan have been inoculated in the first of two rubella (German measles) mass immunization phases, with a further 3,900 children to be given the doses at 15 community clinics beginning Tuesday.

Dr. D. A. Clarke, medical health officer for the South Okanagan Health Unit, said the acceptance rate for the vaccine in area schools was 90 to 95 per cent.

As a result, approximately 60 per cent of those eligible received the vaccine in the schools, he said.

Top priority was given to prepubertal (non-menstruating) girls in Grade 8, with students in Grades 1 to 5 following in ascending order.

When the program began Sept. 28, the health unit had 5,880 doses for 14,000 eligible children in the health unit, all under 12 years of age.

Because of the demand, a further 3,900 doses have been ordered and were to arrive today from Vancouver for the community clinics, which begin next Tuesday.

Dr. Clarke said there were a couple of schools to be done by visiting teams of public health nurses who would administer the vaccine, adding the unit was expecting an acceptance rate at the community clinics of 75 to possibly 90 per cent.

"We have sufficient vaccine to handle 70 per cent of children between two and five years old," he added.

Local physicians assisted by public health nurses will administer the vaccine at the community clinics.

Mothers are asked to bring the child's immunization record for updating at the clinics, Dr. Clarke said.

In addition to the 1,200 doses for the Kelowna clinic, Dr. Clarke said the federal government has provided 300 doses for the Indian population.

The community clinics will be held at the following times and locations:

Oct. 13, Naramata Community Hall, 1:30 to 3 p.m.; George Fringie Secondary School, Westbank, 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Oct. 14, Kaledon, Okanagan Falls Community Hall, 1:30 to 3 p.m.; Keremeos Health Centre, 9 to 10 a.m.; Peachland Municipal Hall, 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.; George Elliot Secondary, Winfield, Oliver Health Centre, 7 to 8 p.m.; and Summerland Health Centre, 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Oct. 15, Penitence Health Centre, 1:30 to 3:30 and 7 to 8 p.m.; Osoyoos Health Centre, 7 to 8 p.m.; and Princeton Health Centre, 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Oct. 16, Kelowna Health Centre, 7 to 9 p.m.

Oct. 21, Rutland Health Centre, 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Oct. 22, pick-up clinic at Penitence Health Centre, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Oct. 23, pick-up clinic, Kelowna Health Centre, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Several Breathalyzer Cases
Heard By Judge Moir Today

William Allen Holden of Naramata was fined $200 on a plea of guilty to a charge of operating a vehicle while having an alcohol blood count exceeding .08 per cent. The case was heard in provincial court today before Judge R. J. S. Moir.

Driving licence of the accused was suspended for 30 days. Court was told Mr. Holden had a breathalyzer reading of .23 per cent.

On a similar charge, Rocco James Stone of Orville, Wash., was fined $200 and his driver's licence suspended for 30 days on a plea of guilty. Court was told the accused had a breathalyzer reading of .19 per cent. Also fined $200 on an identical charge was Richard August Alexander of Seton, B.C., who pleaded guilty to the charge. Driving licence of the accused was suspended for 30 days. Court was told the accused had a breathalyzer reading of .21 per cent.

Charges of theft under $50 against Harold William Gray, Dean Arnold Anderson, Eric Frederick Hopp, Ralph Allen Yeoman and Paul Daniel Rumoldson, all of Kelowna, were remanded to Oct. 23 on separate pleas of not guilty.

In provincial court Tuesday before Judge G. S. Demore, Walter Vanin of Penitence, was remanded to Oct. 14 on a charge of operating a vehicle while having a blood alcohol count exceeding .08 per cent. No plea was entered. On a similar charge, Philip Albert

Course
Continues

The city recreation department's creative dramatics course is open for business this week, ready to handle a bigger influx of thespian hopefuls.

One of the most popular undertakings ever attempted by the recreation department, the Young Stagers concluded the 1969 season with the revue, Golden Days When You're Young.

Open to boys and girls in the 10 to 15 year bracket, registration for the coming season will be held today, Thursday and Friday at three from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. Fee is $5 per registrant, and where a family group of three or more is involved the fee will not exceed $10.

Under the supervision of Harry Baalim, classes will commence Sept. 13. Last year, 120 Kelowna and district children registered for the sessions, and this year several adults attended a workshop course at the community theatre conducted by Mr. Baalim.

Keno Balla
Guest Speaker

Keno Balla of Penitence, vice-president of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Diabetic Association, was guest speaker at a meeting of the local branch Monday in the health unit annex.

Mr. Balla reported on an all-Canada diabetic convention he attended at Winnipeg in June where concern was expressed by delegates on the lack of detection campaigns to discover the one per cent of the population in Canada classed as "unknown" diabetics. The meeting noted Edmonton had the distinction of having held five such annual campaigns.

Chairman was new president F. W. Haskins.

$550 DAMAGE

A two-car accident at the intersection of Glenmore Street and Stockwell Avenue at 10:10 a.m. Tuesday caused about $550 damage and no injuries to drivers Zeldia Reichert and Clare Gares, both of Kelowna.

NO INJURIES

A single-car mishap at the intersection of Bernard Avenue and Bertram Street at 2:05 a.m. today caused about $250 damages and no injuries to driver Richard John Musselham of Kelowna.

CARS COLLIDE

A two-car accident at the intersection of Harvey Avenue and Ethel Street resulted in about $400 damages and no injuries to drivers Solomina Weslen and Nita Komarniski, both of Kelowna. The mishap occurred at 10:40 p.m. Monday.

DATE EXTENDED

Applications for grants from the Centennial Cultural Grant Fund has been extended to Saturday. That's the word from the Kelowna and District Arts Council, which reminds would-be recipients that grant application forms are available at the registration desk of the local library.

SINGLE CAR

About $400 damages were incurred in a single-car accident Tuesday at 10 a.m. on Spicers Road, involving driver William Allen Holden of Naramata, who was not injured in the mishap.

HEARD

Lear jet aircraft have visited the Kelowna Airport twice in recent days. Monday one of the twin-engine aircraft brought Health Minister John Munroe in for a Vernon speaking engagement and Tuesday a group of engineers from the Mica Creek dam site flew in. Engineers from the dam use jets to get into and out of Kelowna Airport four or five times each month.

Well-known Kelowna artist Zelko Kudjundic will soon have his work displayed in the Vancouver art gallery. Now professor of art at Pennsylvania State University, Mr. Kudjundic returns to Kelowna each summer. Examples of his recent art will be shown in Vancouver Oct. 13 to 27.

Almost everyone has heard the story about the comment used by some drivers when they are stopped by the police for speeding. "Why aren't you out arresting bank robbers?" asks the speeder, with an innocent voice. At least one Kelowna Mountie has a good comeback. "You know, just last week I arrested a bank robber who asked why I wasn't out arresting speeders."

The beginning of the National Hockey League schedule sends many avid fans heading for the record books, to refresh their memory to handle the dozens of hockey arguments which come up during the season. One name which shows up in several places is Grant Warwick, well-remembered by Okanagan fans from the 1950s, for leading Penitence Vees to the Allan Cup in 1954, and the world championship in 1955. Warwick was a member of the New York Ranger team in 1942 which scored the fastest five goals ever by one team; in three minutes and 59 seconds. Warwick scored the first goal and went on to be rookie of the year.

A car or truck towing a mobile home is an everyday experience. However, a strange twist was thrown into the situation Monday night with a self-contained mobile home towing a four-wheel drive vehicle.

The Kelowna fire brigade held a regular practice Monday night outside the fire station, but with a difference. Four-man squads competed against each other to see who could lay hose the fastest from hydrants. The competition was part of a public reminder this week is Fire Prevention Week across Canada and the United States.

Chest Total
Past $40,000

The current United Appeal, still in the process of tabulation, has now reached $40,088 and is still climbing.

"We've got about $2,000 still unaccounted in the office here," said Mrs. Glenn Lawrence today, adding some areas such as Rutland and Winfield, have not completed their returns. Most outlying regions, including Westbank and Okanagan Mission, have been tabulated as are some returns from the residential blitz Sept. 30. Although callbacks in the latter drive will continue in the city during the next two weeks.

This year's campaign, under chairman Glenn Lawrence, hopes to surpass the 1970-71 target of $66,000; four per cent higher than the 1969 campaign. The combined city Community Chest and Red Cross United Appeal and the Rutland and District United Appeal was officially kicked-off with a commercial and industrial canvass Sept. 15, under chairman Raymond Fieldhouse. About 800 canvassers, including participation from 19 member agencies which directly benefit from the drive, took part in the residential blitz.

Short Takes

The hockey season is with us again and serves to emphasize again the public address system in the arena. This has never been satisfactory. It has been remodelled and, even, perhaps, replaced, but it is still something that needs attention—a lot of it. A Short Takes reader reports that on Saturday night he was sitting behind some Americans and when O Canada—or so he assumed—was played, they laughed. He did not blame them. But he was ashamed. In other days, the situation has been blamed on the record which was said to be "worn." If the record is worn, for Pete's sake, replace it. But the trouble goes beyond the record. Who can understand the announcements being made? The whole system is at fault. And that the arena is a difficult place for a p.a. system is no excuse. Other similar arenas have the same problem but the p.a. systems work well. It is time the city did something about this p.a. system.

The paper's headlines these days are rather depressing, but there are some bright spots, even in these days of wars, riots, hijacking, fires and murder. For example, there's the story from Barton-on-Sea, England, about Mrs. Marion Tindall, 45, a housewife, who drank 78 cups of tea in six hours for a world's record. "It will be at least another day before I can face another cup of tea" she honestly commented. And then there's the news item from New York featuring the sale of Spiro Agnew dart boards for $3 each. The board is named "Et Tu Spiro" and bears the likeness of the vice-president. The darts are red, white and blue. From London, a news brightener tells of 11-year-old Alan Foley being sent home from school because of his hair—it was too short. Finally, a Brighton, England, news source reports that Raymond Chadwick, 23, was very upset and disillusioned when police arrested him after he was caught providing customers for LSD with capsules filled with custard powder. Charged with obtaining money under false pretences, Chadwick said he thought he was doing a real service for society by stopping people becoming addicted to LSD.

The government of the Netherlands has issued a warning to groups who try to force their beliefs on others. There is unrest in the country which is today very unlike the country most people have in their minds. It is much richer and more crowded than it used to be. The unity forged by the war has been dissipated. A colonial empire has been surrendered, and Europe provides no emotional or economic substitute. The Netherlands' most immediate worries are economic and industrial, the problems of inflation and wages. But other symptoms of upheaval are so marked that some deeper explanations have to be looked for. It is odd, to say the least, that at the municipal elections in June five seats on the Amsterdam City Council, and 11 per cent of the total vote, should have been won by the gentle nihilists who are opposed to authority, motor cars and war, and in favor of wholemeal bread and helping old people. It is also odd that the Roman Catholic Church should put itself in danger of formal schism with the Vatican, not just over celibacy and priesthood for women, but in regard to the whole spectrum of doctrine. It may well be that reaction against a sober, puritanical and formalized society was bound to come. It is, however, unlikely that the confusion prevailing Dutch institutions is so profound that it will provoke a violent react. For what the evidence is worth, extreme parties of the Left or Right have been losing votes, not gaining them. The Dutch today appear to be a very puzzled people, but it is contrary to their nature to resolve their worries with the gun.

Memo for city council: Down in Wolfville, Nova Scotia, the Canadian and Nova Scotian flags are flung along the main street where parking meters once frustrated motorists. Removal of parking meters was tried during the summer months and was such a success that council has authorized a permanent ban. The police committee chairman told council free parking on the street had not been abused by merchants or shoppers and had improved the whole parking situation.

According to the B.C. Safety News: If the paper clip had just been invented, it would probably have six moving parts, transistors, and require a monthly visit from a serviceman.

Why Do They Run Away?

(Calgary Herald)

Why do a growing number of youngsters under 18 or 16 years of age run away?

This question was asked recently by Reuben Baetz, director of the Canadian Welfare Council.

Perhaps one reason why the number of runaways is growing is that it becomes more of a workable proposition as more and more free food and shelter are being provided by public agencies, and as hitch-hiking becomes more and more an acceptable mode of transportation.

If word got around to the youngsters that motorists were no longer stopping to pick up hitch-hikers and carry them in comfort for hundreds of miles, and if it became known that there were no free shelters, no free food over the hills and far away, there would be a sharp reduction in the number of runaways.

There always have been a few runaway cases and there always will be. But not until today has it become so easy to make running away from home so safe and easy an accomplishment. Unless some anti-hitch-hiking laws are soon put into effect and unless there is a backing away from the flophouse concept, the problem of runaways can only be expected to get even worse.

China Begins Diplomatic 'War'

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

China is launching a major diplomatic drive aimed at generating opposition to the two superpowers, Russia and the U.S. whom Peking considers its implacable enemies. The aim of the Chinese diplomatic offensive, to be carried out personally by Chou En Lai, is to convince smaller nations that they are in serious danger of having their interests overlooked because Moscow and Washington are getting together to defend the status quo.

Characteristically, Chou En Lai's first stop will be in Yemen, the country in the Arabian peninsula through which military supplies and funds have been reaching the Palestinian guerrillas from Peking. The message Chou En Lai will be carrying, in all probability, will be the same that is already being voiced by Peking's Arabic language broadcasts: "The Americans and the Russians have made a deal in the Middle East and are sacrificing the legitimate interests of the Palestinians. The only salvation is armed struggle and more armed struggle."

The rest of Chou En Lai's itinerary is not yet known but it is expected that he will visit some country bordering on the white-dominated regions of Southern Africa and will preach there that the Africans can only escape exploitation and domination by constant armed struggle.

There are similar Chinese diplomatic offensives at the ambassadorial level now in progress throughout Europe. France is being courted as the trail blazer in resistance to the U.S. Trade between France and China is picking up. French officials visiting Peking receive treatment out of proportion to their rank and importance.

Similarly, China is making efforts to improve its relations with Britain. Pressures on Hong Kong have decreased. Attacks on Britain in the Chinese press are almost non-existent. Articles in the most important organs of Mao's government constantly suggest that Britain is being disregarded and that America is making a deal with Russia over the Middle East.

Even West Germany is not being criticized by the Chinese press, in spite of the agreement between the Russians and the West Germans. Peking radio in Germany warning the Germans that their interests too will be totally disregarded in the emerging superpower deal, a deal about which Chinese commentators talk as if it were a present reality.

There also is Chinese interest in the European Common Market. Its current members are being advised to admit Britain and any other applicants, to create a force which can counter-balance the superpowers.

AP NEWS SPOTLIGHT

Prince Charles Travels To South Pacific Isles

The World Spotlight this week reports on the forthcoming trip of Prince Charles to the South Pacific and tells how two previous princes carried out similar duties. There is also a report on Communist China in its 31st year and the troubles of a young African student in Moscow.

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles is off this week on a trip to the South Pacific. He flies out Wednesday on a three-week tour. The return leg will bring him to Barbados in the Caribbean and Bermuda in the North Atlantic.

He'll do about 25,000 miles in ease and comfort, attending Fiji's independence celebrations and the 350th anniversary of Bermuda's Parliament.

He will be carrying on traditions set by two previous princes, the men who later became Edward VII and Edward VIII.

The 21-year-old prince, unlike his predecessors, is dealing largely with territories which have acquired a strong sense of independence though still swearing allegiance to the Queen as sovereign. The two Edwards went in the role of heirs to an empire.

Thus Charles has perhaps the more difficult role of salesman. His product is the nebulous, though still important, one of friendship, mutual respect, and comradeship.

Charles is tall, handsome and has winning ways. The last two princes had a lot of that going for them as well, but they had to demonstrate something even more—stamina.

Edward VII walked into his 60s to succeed Queen Victoria. His career as heir was packed with trips, and they were by ship, by horse and carriage, by some awful trains, and anything else that was going. He left a trail of bonhomie in Italy, Spain, Germany, Russia, Canada, the United States, the Holy Land and India.

LEFT HIS MARK

Edward travelled 8,000 miles by land and 2,500 by sea around India in four months of 1875. He met more Indians of importance than anyone before or since, perhaps.

A bon vivant, Edward left a few monuments to that as well. The "teddy boys" of his era, gay and fun-loving, were named for him. He enjoyed the baths at Bad Homburg in Germany and brought back the Homburg hat which became the hallmark of diplomats.

Edward VIII, as Prince of Wales, also did much travelling but later decided to give it all up in 1936 to marry Wallis Warfield Simpson and become the Duke of Windsor.

Before that he fell off horses, met pigmy chiefs in Africa, hit a golf ball off the Great Pyramid at Giza, rode a surf canoe along the Gold Coast, scaled the Rockies, trudged through the snows of the Andes, and 'oured Australia, Japan, the Americas, and Africa.

For Charles his uncle, now 76, has only one piece of advice: "I would wish Prince Charles a strong hand-shaking arm."

TOKYO (AP) — Red China has marked its 31st birthday seemingly more confident, more stable and less fearful of war with the Soviet Union than it was a year ago.

The chaos of the three-year cultural revolution has been succeeded by relative political calm. The Communist party has set about restoring party branches. Chairman Mao Tse-tung and his associates feel sufficiently sure of themselves to call the National People's Congress back into session after a hiatus of five years. No date has been set but preparations are going forward.

HARVEST IS GOOD

Economically, Peking reports a good harvest and satisfying progress industrially. Foreign trade continues to grow.

These signs of stability have been matched by a more confident approach to foreign affairs. Long-vacant ambassadorial posts have been filled and Premier Chou En-lai is expected soon to make a tour of Asia, Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

Anxiety over a Soviet border attack has been allayed by a year of quiet and continuing, if unsuccessful, negotiations in Peking. Moves have been made to improve trade relations between the two countries. After long absences, a Soviet ambassador soon will be seen in Peking and a Chinese ambassador in Moscow.

None of this means, however, that the Chinese-Soviet conflict is over.

The Chinese seem more deeply at odds than ever with the Russians over Indochina, the Middle East and the general principles of peaceful coexistence versus revolution and protracted war.

"And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions." Joel 2:28.

MOSCOW (AP) — Joseph Molofol Bulane has travelled a long road, from a mud-hut village in Africa to a doctorate at the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

He's been called a kaffir in South Africa and a Nigger in Russia. Such terms still hurt, and Moscow's winters don't soften the insult.

But Bulane is grateful. The Soviet Union has given him an education, something the rest of the world refused.

"The Russians don't really understand us and we don't understand them," he says. "We still bear the sores from our colonial experience in Africa. There is discrimination here and friction."

Before going home, Bulane wants to teach and study in the United States "to balance myself." He has a doctor's degree from the Soviet academy's Institute of Studies, specialization in African and Russian literature, and a fluent command of Sesotho, Zulu, Xhosa, Tswana, Shangaan, English, Afrikaans and Russian.

WORKED IN MINES

Bulane comes from Lesotho, a country surrounded by South African territory which was once known as Basutoland.

After getting a high school diploma at the age of 20, Bulane began working in coal and gold mines and stayed there until he was 24. Two years later, after working as a typist, he was turned down for a government scholarship for university study in Britain. Successive applications to other Western countries were rejected.

"Then I heard Patrice Lumumba University had just opened in Moscow. I sent in my application just for the hell of it. The Russians accepted me immediately and mailed me a ticket."

He arrived in 1961, spent a year learning Russian and graduated in 1967 with a master's degree in comparative literature. He then was accepted for graduate work.

"Contrary to popular belief in the West, a lot of African students become thoroughly disillusioned here and go home violently anti-Soviet," he observes.

"We lived in hostels, four to a room. They always put an African, an Arab and an Indian together with a Russian. Our Russian was friendly enough but many weren't."

"A lot of Africans were also too touchy about the skin color bit. Face it, there aren't many black people in Moscow, and Russians find it hard to get used to us. I've been called names before in South Africa. I can shrug it off as narrow-minded stupidity."

"But some of the guys from Ghana and Nigeria had never been called 'nigger' before. They got uptight."

Sugar Sweet With Exception Of Canada-Caribbean Links

OTTAWA (CP) — Sugar is sweet—except in Canadian-Caribbean relations.

The Canadian government is still trying to take the sour taste out of a January decision ending the sugar-duty rebate program for Commonwealth Caribbean territories.

The rebate of 29 cents for 100 pounds was to end officially at the close of 1969. But strong Caribbean protests led to an extension to the end of 1970.

Then the government named Senator Paul Martin, former external affairs minister, to lead a mission to the Caribbean countries to explain Canadian intentions and hear views.

Senator Martin has just completed the first leg of a tour of the area and will be seeing the remaining countries in mid-October. Senator Martin said this week that he has been talking about the $5 million agricultural development fund for the Caribbean, announced by the government at the same time as the rebate scheme was stopped.

"I have found a wide interest in our agricultural fund proposal," he said. "It has received warm support."

Senator Martin also informed the West Indian governments that the Canadian government had announced the sugar-duty rebate plan in 1966 with the intention that it would only continue until an international sugar agreement had been achieved.

The sugar agreement was concluded in 1969, leading to an increase in the world price of sugar. The price went as low as 1.5 cents a pound before the agreement and now is 3.85 cents a pound.

The storm over the sugar duty rebate blew up in April when the government announced publicly the decision taken in January. The Caribbean governments had already been informed in January.

The Caribbean heads of government, meeting in Kingston, Jamaica, protested Canada's decision.

They said the Caribbean governments would have to review trading relations with Canada.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

OPEN LETTER

Sir: This is an open letter to all people who have found themselves in this situation.

How many times have you or your children while on a shopping expedition, been refused the use of restroom facilities with the excuse that it's only for employees?

That happened to us in your fair city while shopping for winter clothes for my granddaughter who is three years old. She found she had to go to the bathroom, and was coldly refused with the excuse that it was only for employees.

How do you explain that to a child? I do not say all stores follow such a hard and fast rule, as three hours earlier caught in the same situation, the sales clerk gently took my granddaughter to the restroom despite the same ruling.

I fully realize this is an embarrassing subject to bring up, but I feel its reached the point where it should be discussed in the open. Why should places like the cafes and snack places, restaurants and other stores who claim to serve the public not? I also fully realize the problems that go with public restrooms, but there should be a happy medium somewhere.

Sure it would be nice not to take children shopping, but it's not always possible, as some clothes have to be tried on and also one cannot afford to be able to get a baby sitter every-time.

A thing like this can happen to an adult too. I know! I've often muttered to myself about it but did nothing, but when it's done to a child that finished it. I also wonder what the Board of Health has to say on this subject.

I have written a letter to the manager of this particular store, and also a letter to the Chamber of Commerce.

Yours truly,
HUMAN BEING, MOTHER and GRANDMOTHER.

THANK YOU

Sir: We would like to thank all our good friends for their generous support towards our Building Fund.

Up to the present more than $100 in donations from $1 to $100 has been received. With the help of all individual lovers who have contributed our goal will soon be reached.

We would also like to thank all those who have freely given their time and services. With our grateful thanks to you all.

Yours truly,

P.Q. Gives Some Ground On Medicare Dispute

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government has made some last minute concessions in the smouldering medical care dispute as Premier Robert Bourassa's deadline of Nov. 1 for implementation of the program approaches.

However, indications Tuesday were that if the medicare plan is put into effect following a special session of the national assembly Monday, a no-holds-barred battle will break out between the province's 4,000 medical specialists and the Liberal government.

The Quebec Federation of Medical Specialists has threatened to withdraw all but emergency services if medicare is made effective before the government makes the changes it is demanding.

Premier Bourassa, while stating that the doctors have every right to oppose the plan, warns that the government will take any action it thinks necessary to protect the public in the event of an emergency.

In announcing two possible modifications to the plan and the special national assembly session to discuss them and implementation, the premier told a news conference that up-to-date reports on specialists' absentee rates at Quebec hospitals did not indicate the immediate need for a law ordering the specialists to maintain normal services.

It has been said, however, that in the event of a general strike by specialists the government could enact emergency back-to-work legislation similar to that passed in 1969 to order an end to the Montreal police walk-out.

Mr. Bourassa's announcement came 11 days after the breakdown in talks between the federation and the government.

In that time relations between the two parties have deteriorated to the point of outright hostility. At a health committee meeting Friday, an angry exchange between the premier and two specialists' spokesmen dramatized the situation.

It came after the federation representatives refused three times to answer the premier's request to "clarify" a statement they had presented.

"Did you become deaf and dumb the moment you finished reading your statement," shouted Mr. Bourassa.

"We are not deaf, because we can hear you," federation lawyer Raymond Lachapelle replied. "We will make our answer."

The premier said that he was "astonished and extremely disappointed" by what he called "a refusal to engage in a dialogue."

Mr. Bourassa's latest attempt to approach agreement in the dispute—the proposal Tuesday of modifications or "improvements" in the plan—was described later by the federation as "not significant."

Federation president Dr. Raymond Robitaille said in a brief CBC television interview Tuesday night that he did not consider that the proposed changes altered the government position on withdrawal and payment in its plan. He declined further comment. A federation news conference was scheduled for today.

Passed July 10, the Health Insurance Act is designed, the government says, to make top quality medical service available to all Quebecers at equal costs.

The specialists' federation, which groups 22 associations representing disciplines such as pediatrics, cardiology, anesthesiology, dermatology and neurology, says quality medicine will die with medicare in its present form.

The federation represents 64 per cent of Quebec's doctors while the Federation of General Practitioners make up the other 2,300. The GPs have not voiced public opposition to medicare although some specialists have said they are letting them do the dirty work.

Device To Spot Jetjacks Developed In U.S., Pilots Told

TORONTO (CP) — Top-secret devices capable of singling out and killing aircraft hijackers have been developed in the United States, the president of the Canadian Air Line Pilots Association said here.

Charles H. Simpson of Montreal told a businessmen's club that pilots are prepared to see the devices installed because hijacking is acknowledged by most countries as a capital offence.

He did not elaborate on the nature of the devices.

Describing methods to prevent air piracy, he said most major U.S. air terminals were being equipped with magnetometers capable of detecting concealed arms, but his association was told less than a month ago the federal government has no plans to install the devices in Canadian terminals.

Mr. Simpson said some airlines are installing bulletproof cockpits and the U.S. government plans to spend $28 million a year to place 2,500 armed guards aboard commercial aircraft.

"It has also been suggested from time to time that flight crews be armed," he said. "We have opposed this because of our concern at the possibility of shoot-outs at 35,000 feet. The risk of the pilot being killed would be particularly frightening to the passengers."

Asked what protection flight crews in Canadian airlines had against being forced to fly to points beyond their navigational charts, Mr. Simpson said all crews now carry landing charts for Havana airport.

Police Hunting Shotgun Pair

ALEXANDRIA BAY, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. and Canadian police pressed their search today for two shotgun-wielding robbers who seized more than $116,000 from a bank in this Thousand Islands village, then made their getaway by motorboat on the St. Lawrence River.

MRS. RICHARD GROEN
... five to fifty

Tots, Teens, 'Middle-agers' All Share The Same Teacher

From five to 50 years is the wide span in ages of the students taught by Mrs. Richard Groen in one day. In the mornings the pretty young newcomer teaches 18 five-year-olds at the 2nd Kelowna Co-operative Preschool and in the evenings she teaches psychology at the Okanagan Regional College to a class of 25 adults ranging in ages from 18 to 50 years.

Norah Groen and her husband, Richard arrived in Kelowna on Aug. 1, from Guelph, Ont.

Richard is an agricultural chemist and has been connected with the fruit industry all his life.

The wide diversity in the ages of her two classes does not pose any particular problem for the trim blonde teacher, since she has a Master's degree in psychology, writing her thesis on the development of the number concept in the four- and six-year old age groups.

Raised at Niagara Falls, Norah Groen obtained her Bachelor of Arts degree at Mc-

Masters University and later her Masters at the University at Guelph.

While she finds the pre-schoolers eager and enthusiastic and sometimes a bit disconcerting with their frank remarks, she appreciates the contributions her 'senior' students make to discussions in her evening classes.

Many of her older students, who have varied backgrounds in the working world, have gained an insight into many aspects of life, that are both interesting and stimulating, she says.

The evening course is an introductory one and briefly surveys all facets of psychology, starting with the nervous system.

Genetics is also covered and different types of perception, vision, hearing and so on. The fourth phase deals with the different types of learning and the different types of conditions.

After Christmas the class will go into statistics, motivation and abnormal psychology.

Having learned to ski while studying in Switzerland, she hopes to ski here and she also hopes to find time for one of her first loves, music, having studied piano for many years.

COMPANY
So far the Groens have not had too much time to explore the Valley, since like most newcomers they had a steady stream of company during August, their first month and this past month has been a busy time of preparation for two classes — with 18 eager 'little' people in the morning plying her with questions about their world and 25 ambitious adults in the evening challenging her with 'worldly' questions. What does she do with her afternoons? She has a third job, she is a homemaker and manages to keep their home on Stockwell Avenue, neat and tidy and ready for more company.

HITHER and YON

Among the newcomers to Kelowna who have moved here from Richmond, B.C. are Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Ferguson and son, Rodd and daughter, Kori, who are making their home at 1340 Dilworth Crescent.

Two carloads of members of the Kelowna branch of the Business and Professional Women's Club travelled to Penticton on Sunday where they were guests at a noon luncheon hosted by the Penticton BPWC, in honor of the visit of Mrs. Nazla Dane, International First Vice-President, from Eastern Canada.

Lily Expert To Address Garden Club

Lilies will be the topic presented by Dr. A. J. Hansen of the Summerland Research Station at the Kelowna and District Garden Club meeting today at 7:30 p.m. at the Martin Elementary School.

Dr. Hansen has a large private collection of many types of lilies and has done considerable lily breeding. He will illustrate his talk with beautiful colored slides.

All members will find this an extremely interesting program and members will appreciate the question and answer period with this busy man.

PALOUR SHOW CLASSES

Members are urged to enter this month's parlour show classes which are as follows: Vase of disbudded chrysanthemums, bowl or vase of Michaelmas Daisies; arrangement of fresh flowers, fruits, vegetables or nuts or foliage, (any or several may be used); suitable for Thanksgiving or Halloween buffet table.

A report of the recent convention at Vernon of the Okanagan Valley Horticultural Association, which was well worth attending, will be given.

The new program schedules for the season will be given to members, that have renewed their membership, who will also have the privilege of voting.

Visitors are always welcome to the garden club meetings and gardeners interested in lilies are especially invited.

ness and Professional Women's Club travelled to Penticton on Sunday where they were guests at a noon luncheon hosted by the Penticton BPWC, in honor of the visit of Mrs. Nazla Dane, International First Vice-President, from Eastern Canada, who spoke on the work of the international congress of BPWC. Representatives of BPWC branches from Vernon, Kamloops, Cranbrook and Grand Forks were also present as well as Kelowna and Penticton. From Kelowna were Mrs. F. M. Trevis, Mrs. Agnes J. Pike, Mrs. Alice Runnalls, Wealthy A. Grigg, Mrs. Angelo Rossi, Mrs. Elaine Johnson, Frances L. Stratton, Mrs. A. P. Fry, Mrs. M. A. Urquhart and Mrs. Millie J. Kelly.

The annual tea of the David Lloyd Jones Auxiliary was again a successful event. Receiving the many guests who took advantage of the lovely autumn weather, were president Mrs. Lucy Knox assisted by Mrs. T. F. McWilliams. Members of the auxiliary served for the event, convened by Mrs. J. A. McIntyre and tea tables were prettily centered with fall flowers arranged by Mrs. R. P. MacLean.

Patrons also took advantage of the sale of handiwork conducted by the residents of the Bernard Avenue home and many pretty aprons, embroidered pillow cases, knitted articles and rugs were bought no doubt, with Christmas in mind.

Male residents also contributed to the success of the day by making and donating several articles for the raffle; a hand hooked rug by Mathias Schriener and Rufus Carl made and donated an embroidered linen tablecloth and a petit point picture.

Weekend visitors with Mr. Mrs. William Guest of Nassau Crescent were old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDonald of White Rock, B.C.

Parents Volunteer To Help With Non-teaching Duties

The Glenmore Parent-Teacher Association held the first meeting of the school term in the activity room of the Glenmore School recently with 70 parents and teachers attending. President, Mrs. A. W. Frytula, welcomed those present and outlined the benefits to be gained by membership in an organization which is affiliated at the provincial and national level. "The parents gain a privilege of having a voice in shaping educational changes, the teachers gain co-operation in establishing a common discipline and students gain encouragement through a combined effort," said Mrs. Frytula.

Forthcoming Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Papps of Rutland wish to announce the forthcoming marriage of their eldest daughter, Phyllis Florence, to James Douglas Newbury, son of Douglas Newbury and Mrs. May Nobbs of Kelowna. The wedding will take place on Oct. 17 in the Evangelical Free Church at 2 p.m.

REMAINS DISCOVERED
The remains of a stone age man from about 30,000 BC were discovered in 1969 in a cave near Santander, Spain.

QUEENIE

"If I had known you were going to ask for a dividend increase or a stock split, I never would have brought you to this well."

Kenzie; safety officer, Jerry Gilkinson; hospitality, Mrs. R. R. Weninger; teacher representative, Sue Spicer.

Principal D. S. Braund introduced the teachers and spoke about problems encountered during the first week of school. He gave a report on the changes in the physical education, music and art programs and the Grade 7 social studies course.

In explaining the duties of the itinerant teacher who divides her time between Glenmore and Bankhead schools, Mr. Braund said her services in assisting students individually and in small groups were invaluable.

A brief question and answer period followed. Questions ranged from why girls can't wear slacks suits to school ("because little girls should look like little girls"), to the problem of students not having enough time to catch the school bus at the end of the day.

Sue Spicer introduced a plan whereby volunteer parents were being asked to help out in the classrooms with non-teaching duties. Forms were available for any parents who felt that they had time or talents to share with the students. The response from the parents was gratifying.

During the business meeting great concern was expressed by many of those present over the lack of sidewalks or sufficient shoulders on Mountain Avenue. It was pointed out that access to Glenmore School was quite limited, with Mountain Avenue and Lowland Street taking the bulk of student pedestrian and bicycle traffic. This constitutes a very dangerous situation when the students are on their way to and from school. A motion to write a letter to city council asking that this matter be taken up in open council was unanimously passed. A committee was set up to further look into the matter.

Registrations For Creative Drama For Children Underway At Theatre

Imagine the crush of mothers at a half price department store sale; or fathers trying to buy tickets 10 minutes before a Grey Cup game. Well, they couldn't have found themselves more crowded than the weary parents who managed to register 120 of their offspring in a single Saturday morning last year.

The place was the foyer of the community theatre and the occasion the first course in creative dramatics for Kelowna and district children.

The 'youngsters' are going on stage again this season but there will be three registration sessions held this week. On each day, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. the foyer of the community theatre will be staffed by members of the recreation department and volunteers to help take care of the expected rush.

Fees this year are set at $5 for each young person, except for the maximum of $10 in case of three or more members of the same family.

It is expected that most of last year's members will return for this popular program and that a large number of newcomers will appear.

Activities start right after the long Thanksgiving weekend.

When You Buy Good Jewelry Consider Your Eyes, Skin Tone

TORONTO (CP) — When you buy good jewelry, consider your eyes, your skin tone, your personality and what you want most—a ring, a bracelet or whatever. Then if you throw in a little good taste, the chances are you will choose something you will enjoy wearing for years, advises jeweller C. V. Secrett.

"Buy the best you can. Choose a style and stick with it. I tell customers that jewelry is a mirror of personality. The size of a woman's jewelry, for instance, has nothing to do with the stature of a woman."

When he designs jewelry for a customer, he watches her hands and notices the way she speaks. Eyes and skin tone play a part because they stay constant when hair color and clothing styles change.

If you are buying good jewelry, having jewelry repaired or reset, he says it pays to go to the best jeweller available.

"You know who he is because there is always a reputation. If you don't know a community, go to a large, well established firm—people who can't afford not to be honest."

"Sometimes a small jeweller may not be backed up enough to replace a stone if he chips one."

"If you have appendicitis you don't walk up and down the street looking for the cheapest doctor available. You want the best. It should be the same with a jeweller."

One of Mr. Secrett's special interests is antique jewelry, which he says is good old jewelry.

"If it's old it's antique, but the word doesn't mean anything if it wasn't good. A lot of it was terrible stuff."

ANN LANDERS

Watermelon Image Hard To Shake

Dear Ann Landers: I am black. I am employed in an office where most of the employees are white. The question I want to ask is simply this: Why is it that even though the black person performs the same services and is paid the same salary as the white person, he gets asked, sooner or later, if he knows a good maid or a reliable janitor.

This has happened to me so often I am fed up. The last person who asked me this question was told to call up an employment agency or place an ad in the paper. The woman looked shocked when I responded to her in this manner. I know for a fact that she did not ask any of the white employees—just me.

Woman, will you please explain this? — No

Dear N.W.T.: The old time stereotype of the Negro was that of a servant. Negroes were uneducated and exploited in America for hundreds of years. They were brought here as slaves and kept ignorant. They had to take menial jobs since they were ill-equipped to do anything else. Today Negroes are Supreme Court Justices, mayors of cities, college presidents and journalists.

The next time someone asks you if you know of a good maid or a reliable janitor tell them, "No — but if you need a Negro physician who specializes in dermatology there's a superb one in Chicago."

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 but am more of a woman than my mother and most of her friends. I have also lived more of life and know what I want and where I am going. Right now I'm in a messy situation and I need your advice.

Last year I had a part-time job in an office. I fell in love with a man who worked there also. He told me he was separated from his wife, which was a lie. I know now he lied because he was afraid I would stop seeing him if I knew he was living at home. By the time I learned the truth I had already given him my heart, my body and my mind.

His wife found out about us (I think I know who tipped her off) and she packed up their two children and moved back to their hometown. The following week he got himself transferred to the same city and they patched everything up.

I have sent him telegrams and letters but he doesn't answer. When I telephone his office I am told he is "out of town." I called his home last week because I was desperate to hear his voice. He said, "I can't talk now," and hung up on me. If I could only speak to him I am sure we could work everything out. I want to move where he is and settle for whatever time he can give me. I would rather have one hour with him than a lifetime with anyone else. What should I do next? — Scorpio.

Dear Scorp: Take the hint and leave him alone. If you need professional help to get back on the track of rationality (you sound temporarily derailed), get to Family Service has excellent counselling. Call for an appointment.

Dear Ann Landers: Help! Quick! S.O.S. Did I do the right thing? A former neighbor telephoned this morning and said she had heard my husband and I were giving a party and she was sure her invitation was lost in the mail because so many mutual friends had already received theirs. I was so taken by surprise I replied, "Yes, you were on the list, by all means come."

Now I am annoyed with myself because they were not on the list and she outsmarted me. What could I have said under the circumstances? — Hostess With A Crowded Table.

Dear Hostess: You could and should have said, "No, you weren't on the list, but we hope to have you another time."

National Growth-Hormone Study Aims To Achieve Normal Height In Person

EDMONTON (CP) — Three-year-old Donna Lussier is growing.

That's good news, because at one time it was not known whether she was a constitutional dwarf or just deficient in growth-hormone secretion.

When Donna was 13 months old, doctors discovered her bone age was compatible with that of a newly-born infant.

But after three years her bone growth is at last compatible with her chronological age.

Donna is one of the youngest children in a national growth-hormone study sponsored by the Medical Research Council of Canada. The council hopes to determine the cause and treatment of hormone deficiency which retards the bone growth of children.

"Our goal is to achieve normal height, but the study is still too new and so much is still unknown about the growth hormone to be able fully to assess possible results of the study," said Dr. Peter Crookford, assistant associate professor of medicine at the University (of Alberta) Hospital's division of endocrinology.

TEST REVEALING

Examination of Donna when she was 13 months old revealed that she also was thyroid-deficient and in all likelihood would never be taller than four feet. To determine whether she was deficient in growth-hormone secretion or was a constitutional dwarf, doctors stimulated the growth hormones by lowering her blood sugar with insulin or by administering a amino acid. The test showed Donna was deficient in body thyroid and growth hormone.

Further tests revealed that the hormone deficiency was not secondary to the thyroid deficiency, but they were separate entities and had to be treated individually.

The growth hormone is released from the pituitary gland which sits at the base of the brain and is referred to as the "leader of the endocrine orchestra." It is responsible for the release of at least six hormones, one of which is the growth hormone.

"The growth hormone also influences many of the body tissues," said Dr. Crookford. "It builds protein, breaks down fat and antagonizes insulin action on carbohydrate."

IN ALGIERS

Salesgirl Wears Veil

By ROXANNE GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — The Algerian salesgirl looked at her customer's camera and her dark eyes opened wide with fright.

"If you take my picture it will create a very big scandal," she said, looking quickly up and down the lingerie counter of Algier's largest department store.

The attractive, 38-year-old woman was too timid to give more than her first name—Salima. Yet she talked willingly to a reporter about her life behind the veil.

Unlike most Algerian women today, Salima can read and write, has adapted to modern life and has even travelled abroad. Nevertheless, she is among the countless millions of Moslem women who, by tradition, choice or family pressure, remain shielded from the eyes of strangers.

At work, Salima wears a simple blue smock over a white style dress. On the beach, she wears a bikini. But when she goes out into the street, only her brown eyes and slim ankles are visible beneath the white "haik," resembling a silk bed-sheet wrapped around her body, and the white, triangular "aab-jar," like an embroidered handkerchief, covering her nose and mouth.

Salima has worn a veil since she left school at 13, and she says she would feel lost going into the street without one. During Algeria's war against the French, the veil was used by urban terrorists to escape detection. Algerian women also used its protective anonymity to plant bombs and spy on the French.

After independence, in 1962, many Algerian women who fought hard in the war expected to be rewarded by large-scale emancipation. But most of them remain veiled and undereducated, often dominated by fathers, husbands or in-laws.

WHITE WRITES

Dreaming A Little

By LORNE WHITE

by LORNE WHITE

Oh Harold, it's that time again!
Sports, sports, sports and more sports.
With all that's going on these days, a guy can start getting a little confused.

Why just the other day I had this dream (do a lot of sleeping during the day) that had Dave Keon holding out on the Minnesota Vikings until he got $5,000 for the playoffs and $10,000 for the World Series.

Ted Taylor of the B.C. Lions quit while he was still in one piece so he could go back to his cattle ranch in Belleville, Ont. The Denver Spurs picked up quarterback Wally Gabler from the Boston Patriots in exchange for the rights to Joe Kapp who was reported hiding out somewhere in Saskatoon, where he was said to be trying out for the junior Blades.

While all this was going on, the Cincinnati Reds were taking the best-of-seven quarter final against the Pittsburgh Penguins for the right to meet Naimo in the Minto Cup.

AND IF THAT'S NOT ENOUGH, Pierre Trudeau had just signed a two-year $200,000 contract with the Washington Redskins as a field goal kicker, but said he would keep his present job on the side line.

Dreams are funny things. They can change so quickly. Flashed in front of me were goal posts the width of Empire Stadium, and in front of them was a figure resembling Ted Gerela trying a field goal from the five.

And there was Derek Sanderson standing outside his barber shop waiting for Joe Namath to pass by.

I saw a bus arriving in Kelowna and stopping in front of the Memorial Arena with five 6'8" hockey players, all defencemen, all about 200 pounds, and all ready for the Buckaroos home opener Friday against Vernon.

Around the other side of the Arena, a construction crew was hard at work on something resembling another... no it couldn't be.

A NEWS STAND CAME INTO FOCUS, with all the newest hockey magazines on display, and not one of them had a picture of Bobby Orr on the cover. On further inspection, a copy of the August issue of Hockey News was seen under a Playboy magazine. Wondered where that thing went.

Dreams slowly advanced into nightmares. Kelowna and District Minor Hockey got under way, and Bob Brooks was coming to the office with the results of the week's action.

Gordie Howe retired along with Alex Delvecchio, and Frank Mahovlich was traded back to Toronto.

The Vancouver Canucks lost to the Penitence Broncos in a pre-season exhibition game in Oliver.

Immaculata Dons, Kelowna Cubs and Kelowna Buckaroos were playing the same night all in Kelowna.

That was it. I woke up.

Time for work.

OTHER THINGS: The so-called experts are picking the Boston Bruins to finish first in the Eastern division of the National Hockey League, Rangers second, then Detroit, Montreal, Toronto, with Buffalo and the Canucks fighting it out for the sixth.

In the West? Who else but Chicago. They pick St. Louis for second, Minnesota for third, Pittsburgh for fourth, followed by Philadelphia, Oakland and Los Angeles.

And my predictions? Not this time Harry.

The Kelowna Buckaroos are a little disappointed the Vancouver Canucks make their 1970-71 debut Friday. Not only will they miss the game on television, but they're afraid a lot of people will miss their home opener. Don't worry fellows, from what we hear, everyone wants to see local news on the sports page, so there's no reason why they won't miss the game between two expansion teams to see a game live in the Arena.

Minor Hockey Well Under Way

Kelowna and District Minor

Hockey got under way the 1970-

71 season Saturday at the Memorial Arena, with three divisions starting regular season play.

In the pups A division, Blue

Bombers thumped Grey Owls

7-2, Oves edged the Maroons

2-1, and Black Knights tied the Red Devils 1-1.

Greg Wilson went on the rampage for the Bombers, scoring five goals, while George

Curran tallied twice for the winners. Jay Corrado and Quinn Weninger notched one each for the losers.

Oves got goals from Neil

Sykes and Mike Stapleton in their win, while Dean Claggett was the lone goal getter for the Maroons.

Tod Grondahl scored the Black Knights' only tally in their deadlock with the Red

Devils, with Murray Clinton getting the Devil's marker.

PUPS B

Not too much scoring but a lot of action was seen in pups

B play Saturday, with the Wings edging the Giants 2-1, the North Stars squeaking by the Rebels 3-2, Canucks cutting down the Sabres 3-1, and the Kings crowning the Hawks

2-0.

Roger Wolfe scored both goals for the Wings in their triumph, with Barry Tompkinson tallying for the Giants.

One goal apiece for Maurice

Blancie, Allan Hawkins, and

Don Naka, gave the North

Stars their win over the Rebels, with Jack Horning, and Joe

Papp getting the goals for the losers.

Two goals by Mike Wolfe and a single by Chris Sparrow was enough to beat the Sabres, who got their only marker from

Keith Parker.

Ron Sorde and Tom Warner

potted one goal each for the Kings in their whitewash of the Hawks.

BANTAMS

While scoring was scarce in the pups B division, the Bantams got their share, notching

a total of 44 goals in five games.

In a wide open affair with the Knights outscoring the Leafs 10-7, 17 players shared in the scoring.

Bob Lommer, Dale Collins,

Doug Bromley, Mark Belleau,

Norm Wright, Kim Head, Ken

Wright, and others.

Other Tiger scorers were Robert

Johnson with two, and Bob Dachwitz.

The Kicker-Lancer encounter,

Collin Mullaney scored for the

Lancers, while Brian Shore replied for the Kickers.

In other games, Cougars shutout Eagles 3-0, and A. C. T.

blanked Panthers.

Goal scorers for the Cougars were Alex Sherrin with two,

and Rhys Brunn with the other.

For A. C. T., Peter Pucci picked up a pair of markers, while

Brad Booker and Jim Krupper

notched one each.

Buckaroos Downed 6-3 In Poor Four Minutes

OLIVER — The Kelowna

Buckaroos fell apart for four minutes Tuesday, but will be out to put everything together

Friday, when they play their home opener against the Vernon Essos.

The Bucks, playing their fourth exhibition of the season, the second against the Penitence

Broncos, dropped a 6-3 decision, with four of the Bronco tallies coming after the 11:57 mark of the third period.

Kelowna took a 2-1 lead after the second period, and were ahead 3-2 until the roof fell in on the visitors.

Terry McDougall scored two goals for the losers, while

Charlie Huck got the other.

The loss was the second in exhibition play for the Buckaroos, who dropped their league opener 8-6 in Vernon Saturday.

In the first pre-season game against the Broncos, played in Kelowna, the Buckaroos downed the southern club 6-5.

The Buckaroos home opener is one of two scheduled games in the B.C. Junior Hockey League Friday. The other being in

New Westminster, where the

Kamloops Rockets take on the Royals. The scheduled game in Penitence with the Broncos playing host to the Victoria

Cougars has been cancelled due to the absence of ice in the Arena.

Kelowna will also play host

Saturday, when the Cougars invade the arena during their first trip to the interior.

In the only game tonight, Victoria is at New Westminster.

John Ferguson Quits Hockey

MONTREAL (CP) — John Ferguson, Montreal Canadiens' left winger, said today he has decided to retire from hockey.

Ferguson, a regular with the National Hockey League club since the 1963-64 season, said his decision was not a sudden one. "I thought about it for most of the summer," Ferguson said. "I have no beef with hockey or the Canadiens, general manager Sam Pollock or the owners, but I know where I'm going."

Ferguson, 33, currently is a partner in a prosperous sweater manufacturing firm here.

Pollock, in New York for today's meeting of the NHL's board of governors, said in a telephone interview he was aware of Ferguson's decision and will meet with the Vancouver native Thursday.

NOT LIKELY TO CHANGE

Ferguson said it is not likely he will change his mind.

"I decided a long time ago that when I can't give 100 per cent to hockey, it's time to give up," Ferguson, a fierce competitor, said.

His decision was prompted by a desire to devote more time to his business interests here and to his wife and young family.

Ferguson has four children, three daughters and one son, ranging in age from 1 to 12.

Ferguson's career has been plagued with injuries and suspensions over the last few seasons. He had a cast removed from his right arm Tuesday. The cast was placed there one week ago because of bursitis.

Ferguson, whose on-ice roughness contrasts sharply with his mild-mannered approach to life off the ice, had a frustrating 1969-70 season. He appeared in only 48 games for the Canadiens, scored 19 goals and assisted on 13 others.

He suffered an injured thumb in last season's exhibition tour and got off to a slow start. He also served a six-game suspension for a stick-swinging incident in St. Louis with Gary Sabourin of the Blues.

The previous season was Ferguson's best as he scored 28 goals and assisted on 23 others in 71 regular-season games and added four goals and three assists in 14 playoff games to help the Canadiens to the Stanley Cup.

The 1968-69 season also saw Ferguson set an NHL record for penalty minutes in the playoffs. He served 80 minutes in the 14 games.

He played 440 games with the Canadiens in seven regular seasons and scored 129 goals. He assisted on 144 other goals, while amassing 1,052 penalty minutes.

In the playoffs he counted 16 goals and 12 assists in 67 games. His playoff penalty total stands at 224 minutes.

Leafs Still In The Dumps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs were patsies for the National Hockey League's East Division teams last year, finishing sixth in the final standings.

With the emergence of two expansion teams in the division this year, the Leafs were expected to show some semblance of a first-division club.

Not so. If the NHL's pre-season exhibition schedule is any barometer of the club's stability.

Toronto went through last year's 10-game exhibition season with one victory and seven losses. They're well on the way to equalling that record following a 4-1 loss to Vancouver Canucks Tuesday night.

The Leafs, after nine outings, have one victory and six losses and conceivably could wind up with the worst win-loss record in the pre-season schedule after facing a revamped Los Angeles Kings club at Victoria tonight. WON 3 of 11

Vancouver, who officially open the 1970-71 NHL season Friday night at home against the Kings, completed their exhibition outings with three victories, four losses and three ties.

In the only other game Tuesday night, St. Louis Blues continued their dominance of Minnesota North Stars with a home ice 4-2 victory.

At Vancouver, captain Orland Kurtenbach, drafted by the Canucks for his leadership on ice as well as his over-all ability, played a strong two-way game against his former team, scoring twice and checking tenaciously.

The 7,537 fans saw the Canucks jump into a 4-0 lead before Mike Walton finished the scoring for Toronto in the second period, beating Vancouver goalie Charlie Hodge cleanly with a shot from the point.

PLANTE PLAYED THROUGH

Ed Hatoum and Danny Johnson were the other Vancouver marks men in beating Jacques Plante who played the entire game in the Toronto goal.

George Gardner, Hodge and Dunc Wilson shared Vancouver's goalkeeping chores.

Rookies George Morrison and Christian Borgeleau scored two each for St. Louis as the Blues, West Division champions last year, improved their exhibition record to three wins, five losses and two ties. The North Stars won four and lost four of 10 games.

WORLD SERIES

Astroturf, White Houses Tough For Both Teams

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Orioles could beat a disadvantage playing World Series games on Cincinnati's artificial turf, but the Reds may face a stiffer challenge when they encounter Baltimore's infamous hitting background.

Ever since the Orioles returned to the major leagues in 1954, batters have complained about the white houses which form the chief backdrop in centre field.

Gripes don't come only from the opposition. The Orioles complain, too.

"I've planted beyond the fence a haven't grown high enough, and there has been talk about erecting a fence just to provide the proper dark background."

At an Orioles' stockholders' meeting, a minor stockholder took note of the constant complaints and suggested that the club offer to foot the bill for painting the houses across the street a different color.

"The Reds are going to be shocked when they see the ball come out of those white houses," said Baltimore manager Earl Weaver.

"It may take them two games to see the ball. That's a fact."

Even Minnesota Twins, who play at least six games in Memorial Stadium every year, complained after Jim Palmer held them to seven hits and struck out 12 in Baltimore's 6-1 American League pennant clincher on Monday.

"This has always been a bad ball park for me to hit in," said Harmon Killebrew.

As for the Cincinnati Astroturf, Weaver contends it "won't be a factor at all."

"In fact," he said, "our field is more unpredictable."

"Grass on top of dirt differs from day to day because of the amount of moisture in the air or on the ground. The infield might be fast or slow depending on Mother Nature. On Astroturf, after you field a few grounders, you know exactly what the ball is going to do."

BALL GOES FASTER

Baltimore outfielder Frank Robinson, who played in the all-star game at Cincinnati, said both infielders and outfielders have to play deeper on the Astroturf because the ball travels faster.

Second baseman Dave Johnson said he thought the artificial surface in Cincinnati was deeper than "in other parks, providing a softer bounce."

"I think the big adjustment is deciding how far to play back," he said. "But after practising there Friday, we shouldn't have any trouble."

The Orioles have three infielders who were given "Golden Glove" awards after being voted the best in the American League at their positions last season—Johnson, shortstop Mark Belanger and third baseman Brooks Robinson.

First baseman Boog Powell failed to win and complete an Oriole infield sweep. But, Johnson pointed out, "Booger had 121 runs batted in this year."

Reds Going With The Jet Set

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bob Howsam, Cincinnati Reds' general manager, in his three years has put together the youngest team in the National League, and the best.

Of the 25 World Series eligibles against Baltimore Orioles, only four Reds are 30 or older. The oldest regulars, both only 28 are right fielder Pete Rose and second baseman Tommy Helms.

The pitchers are so young it must cause rival managers many sleepless nights.

Don Gullett is 19, Milt Wilcox 20, opening World Series starter Gary Nolan 22, Wayne Granger and Jim Merritt 26 and Jim McGlothin 27.

Tony Cloninger, at 30, is the only pitcher of the 10-man mound staff past his 20s.

When Howsam from St. Louis Cardinals, came here he said: "I want people to say, 'There are three kinds of baseball players—good baseball players, major league baseball players and Cincinnati baseball players.'"

"I want people to say, 'That's something special. That is the best.'"

ADD MORE SCOUTS

He's nearing his goal with a beefed-up scouting staff—from seven to 17 now—and young playing talent tutored by patient Reds' manager Sparky Anderson.

Anderson's stopping Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League playoffs with kids-like Gullett and Wilcox prompted Pirates manager Danny Murtagh to say:

"My confidence in kids goes so far, but that guy Anderson is a mad man."

The Reds are using seven No. 1 or No. 2 draft choices. Left fielder Benie Carbo and pitcher Mel Behney, Gullett and Nolan were top picks and the Reds tapped catcher John Bench, infielder Darrell Chaney and Wilcox as second-round selections since the draft started in 1966.

Anderson has a ready answer

For Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer, who struck out 12 while hurling Baltimore Orioles' American League pennant-clinching victory, was named today as Baltimore's starting pitcher in the first game of the World Series.

"Palmer's last performance has nothing to do with it," said Orioles' manager Earl Weaver as he named the right-handed pitcher Saturday in Cincinnati.

"He's just the best bet to go against the Reds, who have all that right-handed power down the middle."

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

MEET THE 1971 CARS FROM CHRYSLER at your Dodge and Plymouth dealer's today!

1970—it's been great! Chrysler's share of new car sales highest in 14 years! To top it off, exciting new cars for 1971. All quality-engineered for value. You be the judge. Check their styling. Try the comfort. Drive them. That's how we want you to meet our new 1971 cars.

For 1971, the cars from Chrysler have more to offer: more of the styling you like, more of the performance you prefer, more of the dependability and value you want. When you've seen these new cars in person, you'll agree: it's '71 and Chrysler steps up the action!

Building on success.

1970 was one of the best years in Chrysler's history. Chrysler's share of domestic new car sales rose to a 14 year high! For the sixth straight year, more people in Canada bought Chrysler's than any other luxury car. Plymouth Valiant was the best-selling compact car in Canada. And the combined sales of Valiant and Dodge Dart accounted for over 40% of all Canadian compact car sales!

Competing where it shows.

Chrysler has a long-standing reputation for engineering excellence and we're not afraid to put it on the line:

the starting line. Dodge and Plymouth are both active in open competition in NASCAR-sanctioned racing. From the amount of silverware the Dodge Daytona and the Plymouth Superbird have collected, Chrysler engineering is still top-dog.

On drag-strips throughout North America, Chrysler-built cars and Chrysler-powered cars are also consistent winners.

Chrysler Engineering

Over the years, Chrysler's Extra Care in Engineering has developed some major automotive firsts, like unibody construction, Slant-Six engines, torsion bar suspension and Seven-Stage rustproofing. Last year we added Torsion-Quiet ride.

Now, all Chrysler-built full-size and luxury cars, including station wagons, have the extra smoothness and silence of a Torsion-Quiet ride. You have to drive one to appreciate the noticeable difference.

Another development this year: regular fuel engines. Almost all of Chrysler's '71 engines have been modified to use regular grade gasoline—and that includes the large displacement V8's too.

This year, Chrysler engineering has also added a part-throttle kick-down feature for V8's as well as Six's with TorqueFlite transmission. It gives you extra acceleration in city driving by downshifting from drive to 2nd when the accelerator is partially depressed.

What's the action for '71?

There's plenty of it. Exciting things have happened to all our car lines, especially to 1971 Dodge Charger/Coronet & Plymouth Satellite models. For them, there's a brand-new design concept that gives more individuality to sedan and hardtop styling. But you'll catch the excitement yourself, the moment you step into a Dodge or Plymouth dealer's showroom.

Now, please accept our invitation. Take a trip down to your local Dodge or Plymouth dealer's today. Take a good, long look at the 1971 models. Luxury cars, full-size cars, mid-size cars, compacts and sports cars.

Ask lots of questions. Take a test drive or two. That's what dealerships are for, to let you meet our products face to face. When you do, you'll agree that the 1971 cars from Chrysler have more to offer . . . more of the value you're looking for.

GOODYEAR

Here's the lowdown on the
BEST WINTER TIRE BUYS
There's one just right for you!

GRAND PRIX RETREADS

Goodyear Grand Prix retreads may be the answer to your winter driving problems, particularly if you own an older car. Can you rely on retreads? You can if they are Goodyear. Bus companies, trucking firms, even airlines use Goodyear factory-built retreads because Goodyear carefully selects each casing before highly trained factory personnel apply the same rubber which is used in new tires. You get a tire that is just like new for a really low price and they are guaranteed too. Traction? The new Grand Prix design wraps around the casing to give a wider tread than older style recaps and more rubber on the road means more traction when the going gets rough. Retreads are available in blackwall and whitewall in all popular sizes.

LOW PRICES ON OTHER SIZES, TOO!

SURE GRIP IV

We believe the Sure Grip IV is the best tire in its price range. Four full plies of "stronger than steel" nylon give the best protection against winter road hazards at this price. This tire has also the tread design formerly only available on our higher-priced tires. Its rugged deep tread is the one that made the name Suburbanite synonymous with winter traction. For the first time this year, Sure Grip IV is also available in whitewalls and in sizes to fit most domestic models as well as many "imports". No wonder it's the best winter tire in its price class.

NOW! SIZES TO FIT MOST CARS INCLUDING IMPORTS!

SUBURBANITE VYTACORD

Moderately priced for the motorist who wants a tire that runs quieter, lasts longer. Four plies of polyester cord have all the soft-riding and strength characteristics of nylon, but in addition, they overcome the flat spotting or morning thump problems associated with nylon. The interlocking "S" tread design provides all the "get up and go" traction associated with Suburbanite, but goes further. This is the tire that is all bite and no bark. We think it is the quietest winter tire ever built. Polyester cord, interlocking "S" tread plus a special rubber compound combine to give more traction, more service, than our economy tire. Available in whitewalls and blackwalls in most popular sizes.

LOW PRICES ON OTHER SIZES, TOO!

SUBURBANITE POLYGLAS

If you own a new car, Polyglas tires are a must for you. They team up with the "extra mileage" Polyglas tires on your front wheels to give safety and traction that lasts and lasts. Polyglas winter tires have the special rubber compound which contributes to greater traction and tread life but its the "belted construction" of Polyglas tires that really make the difference. Two fiberglass belts keep the quiet interlocking "S" tread firmly on the road reducing squirm which eats away tread. This means more traction longer. Polyglas is built to keep its grip longer than non-belted tires. Available in sizes to fit all standard and high-performance cars. Whitewalls, of course, Polyglas has lots of imitators but if it doesn't say Goodyear, it can't be Polyglas.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY GOODYEAR TIRES

The market has been flooded with tires at "bargain" prices. Are these tires really bargains? Hard to tell—particularly for the average tire buyer. Terms such as "premium" and "first line" are meaningless. One manufacturer's premium quality tire can be the economy grade of another. Tires can be made to sell at a price. The lower the price, the lower the quality. Cheaper tires are less durable and have less tread and tread depth. You get what you pay for.

Your protection: the company that stands behind the product. Consider Goodyear. Goodyear builds a tire to meet the driving needs of every Canadian motorist whether you need traction or traction plus other features—if it carries the Goodyear name you can be sure it's top value for your tire dollar. Goodyear's reputation has been built by leading the tire industry... bringing new and better products—like Suburbanite and Polyglas—to the motoring public. That's why you can depend on the Goodyear lifetime guarantee. It's honoured by Goodyear dealers everywhere.

NO LIMIT LIFETIME GUARANTEE

All new Goodyear auto tires are guaranteed against defects in workmanship and materials and normal road hazards, except repairable punctures.

If a Goodyear tire fails under this guarantee any of more than 80,000 Goodyear dealers in Canada and the United States will make allowance on a new tire based on original tread depth remaining and current "Goodyear Price."

Ecology Cult Assailed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Veteran forester Ian Mahood criticized some politicians and what he called the ecology cult Monday for an irresponsible approach to forest management.

Mr. Mahood, a consulting forester and director of the British Columbia Truck Loggers Association, told a service club meeting that ecology groups were attempting to frustrate the resource-use program in British Columbia—a program so well-managed that other countries send engineers to study B.C. methods.

"The proposition that society must preserve the wilderness is one of the great myths of our time," Mr. Mahood said. "Man has never prospered in the wilderness, and modern society cannot survive under wilderness ecology."

"For the camper and resort community enthusiast the forest roads and the lakes can be utilized in harmony with an ecology managed for forest and wildlife production."

He praised the partnership between private and public control that evolved B.C.'s forest harvest and utilization policy.

"Without the replacement of wilderness by a productive ecology, B.C. would be a sorry environment for habitation," he said.

Heavy Snows Hit Manitoba

THOMPSON, Man. (CP)—The season's first heavy snowfall, accompanied by an unusual lightning storm, has left this northern Manitoba city under 10 inches of snow with travel of any nature described as extremely dangerous. All grading and sanding machines were taken off the road because of poor visibility and the airport was closed. At midnight Tuesday snow was falling heavily and temperature was minus five.

WINTER COMES EARLY

YORKTON, Sask. (CP)—Up to a foot of heavy wet snow caused a rash of minor traffic accidents as temperatures dropped to the low 30s in this area of south-eastern Saskatchewan Tuesday. Police warned highways were in hazardous condition.

TRIBUTE PAID

WINNIPEG (CP)—Detective John DeGroot, the 28-year-old city police officer seriously wounded in a fight which resulted in his partner's death, Tuesday recounted details of the incident as the trial of Thomas Mason Shand, 31, continued. Shand is charged with capital murder in the June 27 death of Detective Ronald Edward Houston, 35.

COLLISION SEQUEL

VERNON (CP)—A coroner's jury has recommended highway improvements at the junction of the Okanagan Highway and Pleasant Valley Road, scene of a two-car collision that claimed the lives of two persons in August. It called for improved road markings, entrances and exits.

DRIVER FINED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Truck driver James Mohan of Vancouver was fined $250 Tuesday for failing to take a breathalyzer test and had his licence suspended for three months.

UN Has Budgeting Problem; How To Make Both Ends Meet

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Secretary-General U Thant, saying the United Nations still is having trouble making ends meet, has proposed a record budget of nearly $200 million for the world organization in 1971.

Thant reported to the General Assembly's financial committee that the United Nations organization will need at least $199.7 million to meet its operating expenses next year. This is nearly $17 million more than the estimate of $183 million in Thant's annual budget estimate issued Aug. 26.

The secretary-general reminded the member nations that the UN Secretariat has "not escaped the pressure of inflationary tendencies throughout the world." He said the organization has not yet found a solution to its financial difficulties.

Thant warned that the financial outlook of the United Nations "is worse than ever before and still deteriorating."

The proposed budget increase of 18.5 per cent "exceeds by far the average rise of some 1 per cent per year during the six-year period from 1963 to 1969," he explained that inflation had increased the price of equipment and commodities and made it necessary to boost salaries of employees. But, the greatest growth in expenditures, he said, resulted from increases in the field of international trade and development.

To keep solvent, the United Nations has had to borrow from various funds in its custody. It borrowed $111.2 million as of last Dec. 31 to pay for items in the regular budget and for the peacekeeping operations in The Congo and the Middle East.

"This hand-to-mouth existence scarcely befits the dignity of the world organization, nor does it permit the conduct of the financial operations of the United Nations on a business-like basis," he said.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Won't Drink Milk With His Juice

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: This may seem silly but it is important to me. My husband says you shouldn't serve fruit juice with milk for breakfast because it curdles in the stomach. He will not drink fruit juice and hot chocolate, one after the other, for the same reason.—Mrs. T.D.K.

It's an old notion that is seldom heard any more, but probably he was told it when he was small and never got rid of the idea.

There are several answers. The most important is that the nutrients don't disappear—the protein, carbohydrates, minerals, and so on are still there and still just as nourishing.

Second, in the process of digestion, all our foods are broken down into forms that we can absorb—so if anything curdles, who cares?

Another answer: hasn't he ever eaten ice cream, which in many cases is a mixture of milk and fruit or fruit juices?

Still another: what about sourmilk biscuits or other dishes made with milk that has done more than just curdle?

Yet one more: how does he explain the fact that so many millions of people come to no harm from mixing fruit and milk?

Obviously he hasn't thought things through. Whether you can convince him, however, is something I won't try to answer.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Stomach X rays show that I have two diverticuli in the colon. Please explain what they are, and the treatment, and whether they can be cured without surgery?—D.G.

A diverticulum is a bulge or pouch, and a great many people develop them. You make no mention of whether they bother you; therefore I can't even say whether treatment is necessary at all. If they become bothersome, bland diet, sometimes with medication, is the answer. If they become inflamed, then even more treatment is mandatory. But unless they are bothering you, why do anything? In very severe cases, surgery may be necessary to remove the affected portion of the colon, but in the great majority of cases this is not required.

There is no "cure" for diverticulosis (that is, having diverticuli) short of surgical removal, but don't worry about them if they don't bother you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 21 and expecting my first child in four months. Recently I found out that my husband was using dope—heroin. I think he has changed a lot, his skin is dry and wrinkled, and he looks as if he has aged 100 years.

Did he pass this addiction on to my child, or will it affect my child in any way? Should I try to have an abortion?—E.R.

You have my sympathy—lots of it. But no, do not seek an abortion. It is too late to be safe—and while a mother can pass addiction on to a child (who can be treated nevertheless), the father does not.

You've got your hands full, though, to try to see that your husband gets help before it is too late for him.

Note to D.S.: Yes, there is such an operation, to provide a tiny vent, and it is the building up of pressure characteristic of glaucoma.

Note to Mrs. W.D.: Something's wrong! If those spots have been diagnosed as cancer, they need more than petroleum jelly rubbed on them. Better have them checked again medically.

Opening lead — Jack of diamonds.

Good defensive play is largely a matter of assembling the available clues and putting them all together in a meaningful way so as to achieve the best possible result. If you look for them hard enough, the clues are generally there. If you play mechanically, they will all too often be missed.

Take this case where alert defence is required to beat three notrump. West opens a diamond, which dummy wins with the queen.

Declarer leads the queen of hearts from dummy and finesses, losing to the king, and the question is what West should play now.

If he returns a diamond—the lazy man's play—he learns soon enough that declarer has nine running tricks and that the party is over. He also discovers — alas, too late — that he could have stopped the contract by leading the A-Q and another spade.

Of course, the spade shift is easy enough to find when you see all four hands, but should West be expected to find this shift seeing only dummy's hand and his own?

Let's see what he knows about South's hand after two tricks have been played. South has already shown up — to all intents and purposes — with the ace of diamonds and ace of hearts. He, therefore, cannot also have both black kings or he would have opened the bidding originally.

South is sure to have one of them for his two notrump bid. If it is the king of clubs, East is bound to have the king of spades — and in that case the ace of spades is clearly the right play at trick three.

If South has the king of spades, the ace of spades play still offers the best chance to beat the contract, since East may very well have four of the Jack as well as the king of clubs.

Probe On 'Urban Guerrillas' Begins Before U.S. Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Senate opened an investigation Tuesday into so-called organized "urban guerrillas" whose 300 assaults on policemen in the last year are blamed for the deaths of 20 officers in the United States.

Senator James O. Eastland (Dem., Miss.), chairman of the Judiciary committee, said his internal securities subcommittee would hear policemen from more than a dozen cities in four days of testimony on proposed new laws to protect policemen.

One of the officers, Patrolman James Stieve of Omaha, Neb., was wounded Aug. 14 in a dynamic explosion when a fellow officer opened a booby-trapped suitcase. His partner was killed in the incident.

The subcommittee is considering several proposed measures to curb attacks on police.

One of them, sponsored by Eastland, would make traveling across state lines to assassinate, kill, or injure a policeman, or to incite or teach others to do it, a federal crime.

$50,000 REWARD—The proposed legislation would authorize a $50,000 reward for information leading to the conviction of a person accused of killing a policeman.

Second section of the Eastland bill would strengthen the 1950 Smith Act, making the attempted overthrow of the government a federal crime.

Other bills would bar interstate flight to avoid prosecution for the killing of a freeman or policeman and authorize use of FBI agents in such cases.

Eastland asserted that "deliberate attacks" on policemen are "too widespread, the incidents too numerous, the tactics too similar to suggest separate and isolated acts of violence."

"These instances of deadly violence—fitting into a pattern—have part of a wave of guerrilla warfare."

Of the total, 14,559 were convicted for impaired driving, 6,758 for having illegal alcohol content readings of .08 or over and 2,510 for refusing to be tested.

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of 23,867 persons were convicted of impaired driving and offences related to breath test laws in the first six months this year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Of the total, 14,559 were convicted for impaired driving, 6,758 for having illegal alcohol content readings of .08 or over and 2,510 for refusing to be tested.

Rutland VRS Very Active

RUTLAND — A Membership Tea was held in the Dillman Room of the Rutland Community Centre on Sunday afternoon in connection with the annual meeting of the local branch of the Voluntary Recreation Services.

Mrs. J. A. Rigate of Kelowna, executive director of the VRS, addressed the meeting and detailed the various activities of the organization, particularly in the Rutland area.

The organization was first formed in Kelowna in 1968 when a few interested people felt the need of visiting the local boarding houses and private hospitals to provide entertainment and activities for those living in these institutions.

The organization mushroomed and is now registered under the Societies Act. There is a board of directors for the Kelowna area, with Harold James and Mrs. Florence Fazan representing Rutland.

FORMED IN '69

Early in 1969 at a meeting in the Rutland Health Centre, a branch was formed here and teams of volunteers have since then provided activities at the Valley View Rest Home, the Golden Age and Whispering Pines.

Some 322 hours of visiting and providing entertainment for the guests of these homes has been undertaken. These figures do not include the many hours spent by individuals like John Wilson and others who have given freely of their time and talents to entertain them.

Mrs. Rigate extended an invitation to any of her listeners who were not already involved, to donate a couple of hours a week to assist with the programs.

The election of officers resulted in the following being chosen to serve for the year ahead:

President, Mrs. Florence Fazan; secretary, treasurer, Mrs. Dan Jaud; team captains and assistants for the various homes were appointed as follows: Golden Age, Mrs. W. D. Quigley, captain, with Mrs. E. S. Fleming, Mrs. Kneeland and Mrs. Arthur Gray assisting; Whispering Pines, Mrs. J. A. Garner, captain, Mrs. Harold Ewen, Paul Bach and J. A. Garner. Local representatives on the board of directors of the Kelowna district organization are Harold James and Mrs. Fazan. Mr. James acted as chairman of the meeting.

Among the items on which funds of the organization were spent during the past year were dark curtains, for the showing of slides and films in the homes, musical instruments, records and other equipment used in the programs.

Following the business session refreshments were served and a social half hour was spent.

Socred Suggests B.C. Take Over All Rail Lines

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — Burt Campbell, Social Credit MLA for Revelstoke-Slocan Monday night suggested the possible takeover of all railway lines in British Columbia by the provincial government and their subsequent conversion to provincial rail highways with special toll charges.

Mr. Campbell told the North Okanagan Social Credit Association he will propose at the next sitting of the legislature that the matter be studied by the provincial standing committee on mining and railways.
